

PIERS BURNED ON BOTH ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC COASTS

Losses at Baltimore and Seattle Amount to Over Million

ONE INCENDIARY

Third Attempt at Seattle Succeeds in Destroying Property

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 28.—Fire, supposed to be of incendiary origin, tonight destroyed Pier 14, at the foot of Third street, occupied by Dowell and Company, Limited, agents for the Blue Funnel line of British steamers, with much valuable merchandise, entailing a loss that probably will exceed half a million dollars. The Chinese merchant ship, which arrived Sunday night on the steamer Ixion was still in the warehouse, but $200,000 worth of outfit brought by the steamship had been sent East. Cargo was being unloaded at the pier for the Ixion's return trip to Asia. The Blue Funnel steamers have been taking much heavier work, machinery and implements of war for the Russian army. The Ixion is booked to stop at Vladivostok with similar supplies for Russia. Two attempts to destroy the pier by fire were made early last Tuesday. Both fires were started in piles of highly inflammable rattle stacked on top of rolls of white paper, which occupied a floor space of fifty square feet. The first fire was discovered at 1:12 o'clock in the morning. The watchman summoned the fire department, but before the firemen arrived the fire had extinguished the fire with a hose. Firemen remained at the pier half an hour, trying to solve the origin of the fire. They had just returned to headquarters when a second fire was reported, less than six feet from the starting place of the first. This fire was extinguished with small difficulty. It is thought that both these fires originated from time fuse or bomb. When the fire was discovered about 5:30 o'clock tonight, it had made such headway in the contents of the warehouse and in the wooden walk that the firemen on shore and the fireboats on the water made little headway for a long time. Apparently the stuff in the warehouse was a total loss, so much water having been thrown upon it that the portions not destroyed must have been ruined. The pier was one of the largest in Seattle.

Rain Threatened

RAILROAD, Md., Oct. 28.—The United States bonded warehouse on Piers 34 and 35 of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Locust Point, was totally destroyed by fire tonight. Estimates of the value of the contents of the warehouse varied between $300,000 and $400,000. The building and piers were valued at $150,000. By hard work the firemen kept the flames from two grain elevators, 200 feet away, which contained 2,000,000 bushels of grain. Most of the contents of the warehouse had come recently from London and Liverpool.

BRIAND FORMING FRENCH CABINET

Viviani Resigns as Premier, Greatly to Surprise of Nation

PARIS, Oct. 28, 11:15 a. m.—The French cabinet, of which Rene Viviani was head, resigned, and a new cabinet was called upon to form a new cabinet. The subject of Viviani's resignation from the premiership and the reorganization of the cabinet was discussed at length by the political leaders, but as no definite arrangement had been reached, the Chamber of Deputies, who was awaiting the appearance of the ministry in the house, adjourned in the afternoon, without formal announcement having been made. There had been rumors since the resignation of Theophile Delcasse, the foreign minister, of important changes in the cabinet, but the withdrawal of Viviani was in the nature of a surprise, as he had been a source of confidence in the ministry recently by a very large majority. One explanation offered is that Premier Viviani has overtaxed his strength in his official position by his strenuous services in connection with the war.

RABID COYOTES ENDANGER MEN IN NORTH OF STATE

BERKELEY, Oct. 28.—Rabid coyotes are on the warpath in northern California and the livestock men of that region are advised, in a warning issued today by J. C. Geiger, director of the state hygiene laboratory at the University of California, that the danger of an epidemic is imminent and that immediate steps should be taken for the extermination of the prairie wolves. Dr. Geiger said that he had received many complaints of cattle having been bitten by coyotes in Modoc and Tehama counties, and that coyotes made by him today from a coyote killed near Cedarville, and which is known to have bitten two cows and two horses, proved that the animal was suffering from rabies.

TO USE ARTILLERY TO DEFEND BORDER

U. S. Troops Arrive at Douglas to Watch Villa

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Major General Funston reported to the War Department that with the arrival at Douglas, Ariz., tomorrow morning of additional troops, now en route, he would be prepared to guard American territory against violation in the impending attack by Villa forces upon Agua Prieta, the Mexican town just across the border. Two batteries of field guns, two regiments of infantry, and a company of machine gunners, reinforcements for the border patrol at Douglas. Instructions to General Funston are positive not to permit the Villa soldiers to cross into American territory, but to keep the border open for the movement of the defenses at Agua Prieta. Artillery will be used if necessary to repel such a movement. General Calles, commanding the Mexican forces, is building a semicircle of trenches, about 10 miles in length, facing southward, preparing to make his fight, with his back against the international border. Several thousand additional men, sent to him by General Carranza, will cross United States territory from El Paso, Texas, and Laredo by train and under guard of American troops. They will travel without arms, their weapons being collected at the border and sealed in baggage cars attached to the train, which it recrosses the line at Agua Prieta. In making his arrangements for the impending battle, General Funston reported he had posted a troop of cavalry at Naco to guard the border on the west side of Douglas, the rest of the forces ordered to the scene going to Douglas direct. Unofficial advice reached here today that the Villa governor of Sonora had telegraphed a protest to the Washington government against the passage of Carranza troops across American soil. No protest has been received tonight, but officials said one would come as a surprise. Since the recognition of the Carranza party as the de facto government of Mexico, however, the Villa forces are viewed only as outlaws against that government, and such a complaint would be vain.

Troops Reach Douglas

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 28.—The first battalion of the seventh United States infantry arrived here tonight from El Paso, to reinforce the United States border patrol during the pending attack on Agua Prieta, opposite Nogales, by forces invading Sonora. One section of the twentieth infantry was expected to arrive during the night. A shortage of passenger cars at El Paso necessitated the return of the railroad equipment to bring the remainder of the two regiments to this vicinity.

General T. F. Davis of the sixth infantry brigade, will be in command of the United States soldiers with the arrival of the reinforcements. General Davis will come here shortly, according to reports from military sources. General P. A. Brehm, Carranza commander at Agua Prieta, is expecting an attack by the Villa forces at any time, but reports from the authorities here say that the invaders are exhausted from their long march into Sonora, necessitating a rest of a day or two before closing in on Agua Prieta.

The attack will probably begin Saturday night or early Sunday, many military men believe. Strengthens Defenses. In the meantime, the garrison of General Calles is working day and night improving the city's defenses. The city is being fortified with machine guns and connecting trenches are being dug, and street barricades strengthened. The United States soldiers, too, were preparing for any emergency that may arise. Camps were being dug, and the artillery being placed in the most advantageous positions commanding the international border.

Besides the preparations at Agua Prieta to repel the Villa soldiers, hostilities have been continuing in the region. Six first aid underground stations have been prepared near the town plaza. These stations, or dugouts, have been roofed with steel rails, covered with several feet of earth, making them bomb-proof. They are also equipped with a series of outer trenches and equipped with telephones and electric light.

Dr. J. I. Hollingsworth, in charge of the Red Cross work, has been given permission to bring eight seriously wounded men to Douglas, in the event of a long battle at Agua Prieta. General Benjamin Hill of the Carranza army arrived tonight with a number of his staff from Laredo. He will remain at Douglas tonight and join the Mexican militia tomorrow.

Mexican Currency

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 28.—The Carranza government has appointed a commission to unify the issuance of notes and to regulate specie reserves. (Continued on Page 10.)

TURKISH TROOPS JOIN FORCES AGAINST SERBIA

Effect of Russian Bombardment of Varna Said to Be Serious

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—By wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—Turkish troops have engaged and repulsed an Anglo-French force near Strumitsa, according to a dispatch from Sofia, given out today by the Overseas News Agency. "Bulgarian and Turkish mountain artillery has done great execution," says the dispatch. "Two thousand prisoners, among whom were troops of all colors, have arrived at Sofia." The forces of all the countries allied with the central powers are now operating against the Serbians and the British and French in the southeastern theater of the war. Turkish artillery has entered the fray in southeast Serbia in the neighborhood of Strumitsa, and, according to Berlin, in cooperation with the Bulgarian mountain artillery, "has done great execution" against the Anglo-French troops. The capture of Zajcar and Kndajevts, near the Bulgarian frontier, northeast of Nish, gives the Bulgarians control not alone of the Danube region and the northern reaches of the Timok river, but of the railway running south to Nish. On the Bulgarian Black Sea coast, Russian warships have been bombarding Bulgarian positions in Varna, the chief port, which was considerably damaged by the shells of the Russians, according to the report reaching Rome from Bucharest. In both eastern and western zones the fighting has diminished in force.

Occupy Macedonia

SOFIA, Oct. 28.—Via London, Oct. 28, 3:13 a. m.—The occupation of southern Macedonia by the Bulgarians, according to the Bulgarian reports, is either have established their authority or the Macedonians, who have risen against the Serbians, have installed their own local government, subject to the approval of the authorities. Among the Macedonian communities which are reported to have taken this action are Monastir, Perlepe, Ochrida, Krouchevo and Strouga. Macedonian volunteers are fighting with the regular Bulgarian army. The advance of the Bulgarian troops has been due to the comparatively weak Serbian forces they have met and the assistance given them by Macedonians, according to reports from reliable sources, which are being received by the Bulgarian government. The Bulgarians had maintained roads through Skopje, now connect Serbia with the outside world. The Austro-German advance is being impeded by bad roads. Since the beginning of their offensive there have been only three days when the roads have been open. The mountain plateaus are already deeply covered with snow.

Belgian Executions

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 28, via London, 5:30 a. m.—The Telegraph hears from Liege, Belgium, that two more men have been sentenced to death there by court-martial. Their names are Franz Laquay and Andreas Garot. Three others, Oriel Simon, Amadeus Hesse and Constant Herck, already have been shot at Liege. Nothing is known concerning the fate of Anna Renzet of Verviers, Belgium, who was sentenced to death by a German court-martial on Monday.

To Command Russians

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 28, via Paris, 10:15 a. m.—The Corriere della Sera, learns from a diplomatic source that General Radko Dimitrieff will command the Russian forces near Bucharest. He is now at Bucharest trying to induce the Rumanian government to permit the passage of Russian troops through Rumania.

Alpine Campaign

CHINESE, Italy, via Paris, Oct. 28, 9:30 p. m.—News of the great Italian offensive all along the Isonzo front is being brought down by the wounded and the prisoners to the rear. In three days more than 1,000 prisoners have passed through Udine, which gives some idea of the magnitude of the operations. All the soldiers agree that the artillery preparation preceding the offensive, lasting three days, was appalling. "It was an inferno for us," said a wounded runner, "how much worse it was for those yonder where the shells were falling." The Italian soldiers assert with pride that they are now reaping the benefit of a systematic destruction of the Austrian observatory points on the mountain peaks, mastered after fierce struggles during the past months, and the lack of which, they say, has greatly decreased the accuracy of the aim of the enemy. The men say that six months of warfare has enabled them to understand the tricks of their opponents. When the Italian artillery prepared the way for an infantry attack on the enemy's positions, the latter declared the artillery would retire. When the infantry ceased firing with the purpose of allowing infantry to cover the ground between the opposing positions, the Austrians would occupy their entrenchments with double force. When finally the Italians discovered these facts they adopted a ruse to catch the Austrians. (Continued on Page 10.)

RUSSIAN AGENTS SEEK TO BORROW IN UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Agents of the Russian government, it was reported here today, are seeking to establish a credit loan in this country, somewhat similar to the recent $50,000,000 Anglo-French credit loan, although no bond issue is contemplated—of from $50,000 to $100,000,000, and more, if it can be obtained. Details of the proposed loan were lacking, but in one quarter it was reported that the Russian government was willing to pay as high as 10 per cent interest of this size. This report added that the loan probably would be for eighteen months and would be in the neighborhood of $90,000,000.

NO CHANCE FOR RURAL CREDITS

Majority Against It Is Increased by Later Precinct Returns

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Virtually complete returns received tonight from Tuesday's election showed that proposition No. 4, stipulating that judges for the higher courts remain in office until their successors qualify, was the most popular measure. The rural credits and the initiative and referendum measures, which had been in doubt, were defeated. Returns from 4,498 of 4,572 precincts in the state give on the various questions submitted: No. 1, Direct Primary—Yes, 193,852; No, 134,119. No. 2, Form of Ballot—Yes, 103,663; No, 142,450. No. 3, Terms Superior Judges—Yes, 55,500; No, 206,633. No. 4, Terms Justices Filling Vacancies—Yes, 121,048; No, 121,141. No. 5, Rural Credits—Yes, 121,124; No, 120,015. No. 6, Deposit of Public Money—Yes, 82,528; No, 147,550. No. 7, Initiative and Referendum—Yes, 118,534; No, 123,556. No. 8, Conditions for Public Purposes—Yes, 91,832; No, 149,547. No. 9, Taxation—Yes, 41,349; No, 199,288. No. 10, Exemption of Property from Taxation—Yes, 99,896; No, 163,267. No. 11, County Charters—Yes, 81,673; No, 118,583. With only 25 rem- and lightly populated precincts of the state's 4,572 missing, No. 4 was leading by a majority of nearly 3,000, and it was regarded as certain that additional returns would not affect the result on this measure. No. 5 (rural credits) was not favored by the additional returns and the majority against it of 7,800 spelled its certain defeat. The majority against No. 7 (initiative and referendum) was 4,921. No marked changes were shown in the vote on the non-partisan bills and other constitutional amendments, all of which were overwhelmingly defeated.

NON-PARTISANSHIP ON TARIFF URGED

McAdoo Says Fundamental Questions Not Party Subjects

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Efforts of the administration at Washington to prevent certain fundamental questions, such as the tariff, from being the battle-ground and shuttlecock of party politics, were emphasized here today by Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, at a breakfast tendered him by state officials and prominent citizens of Montana. "We are trying," said Mr. McAdoo, "to take certain fundamental questions out of politics, so that they may not be party questions in the future, as they have been in the past. Among them is the tariff." "Politicians have come up and down the country," he continued, "telling us that their particular party could bring prosperity. First it was the Republicans, then the Democrats. The politicians have been playing this game of screw to get offices, but their predictions and promises are all bunk. We have not had any real prosperity in the United States for ten years, because our business outflow the country's financial system which we have been building about correcting for thirty years, but which we did not get to until President Wilson insisted on Congress doing it up as soon as the tariff bill was out of the way." His three years' experience in the Treasury department has led him to believe, he said, that the inflexible test of the value of a measure to the general public is to have it branded as "socialistic" by some special interest. "My chief disgust at present," he said in conclusion, "is that we cannot get the truth and the facts to the people of this country. Consider them and make up their minds about them, and then tell us, who are their servants, what they want us to do."

GARDENER KILLS LOCAL JUSTICE

LOUISVILLE, Colo., Oct. 28.—Victor Hill, burg, aged 35, justice of the peace at Louisville, was shot and killed on the streets here today by Frank Balford, an Italian gardener. Balford threatened Hill with arrest unless he paid a $500 bribe. After the shooting, Balford jumped into his wagon and disappeared, armed with a high-powered rifle. Officers left for tonight to the residence of Louisville for a ballistics shooting. Balford is arrested.

20 CHILDREN DIE IN PAROCHIAL SCHOOL AT PEABODY

Victims Nearly All Girls Between 7 and 17 Years

FALL AT DOOR

Stumbling of Crippled Child Said to Have Choked Entrance

PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 28.—Twenty children, most of them girls ranging in age from 7 to 17 years, lost their lives today in a fire which destroyed St. John's Parochial school. Another girl has injuries which are regarded as probably fatal, while others were less severely hurt. The children had entered their class rooms for the morning session when the fire was discovered, and, although a majority of them were guided to safety by Sisters of the Order of Notre Dame, who were their teachers, panic seized a large number as they neared the front door, and in their rush to escape they lost their footing and their bodies blocked the exit. It was in the front vestibule that nearly all the bodies were found. Of the nineteen bodies at an undertaking parlor tonight, twelve had been identified as follows: Mabel Beauchamp, 11 years; Nellie Burns, 7; Florence Bickley, 17; Florence Bourke, 12; Elizabeth Cumeau, 10; Helen Bresnahan, 17; Annie Bolecky, 13; Ida Essiambre, 6; Mildred Fay, 13; Patricia Chebor, 6; Helen H. Keefe, 11; Annie M. O'Brien, 11. All of the Sisters escaped but Mother Superior Marie Carmelita was seriously burned. At the convent house tonight it was said that her injuries probably were not fatal, although she is prostrated by the disaster and the suffering of her charges. Origin in Doubt. How the fire started may never be known. An early theory that a boiler explosion caused the fire has been discarded. The state police officials tonight were of the opinion that a gas stove in the basement where a storeroom was located was its source, but investigation of this theory was difficult as the place where the stove had been was destroyed. The first word of the fire is believed to have come from a tardy pupil, who inhaled smoke and reported it to the mother superior. This children had just finished morning prayer, when the gas sounded for fire drill. Mother Marie hurried to tell the sisters of the actual danger and the movement of the fire drill were quickly started. A few days ago, in practice drill, the building was emptied in two minutes. It would have been cleared in almost the same time today in the opinion of St. John's priest, Father William St. John's Roman Catholic church, but for the falling of a child believed to be a cripple in the front vestibule. Over her body, child after child, fearful of the flames, and pressed on by the crowd behind, stumbled and fell. The opening was choked and further escape in this way stopped. Trouble at the rear door, which became jammed for a time, also impeded the movement of the children through the building. The exit was reopened, however, and many children escaped through it. The classes of pupils, marshaled by the sisters in the rooms and halls, had fled through the corridors and started down the stairs in orderly procession, notwithstanding curling plumes of smoke, until the blockade occurred at the doors. Then, with cries from those below in their ears, the children in the rear of the lines started to run on all three floors of the building. Drop From Windows. Those on the lower floor dropped safely to the ground. From the second floor, most of the children, supervised by the sisters, jumped down the side of the building and landed, which were held out to catch them. Many of those who went to the windows of the upper story were warned against risking the long jump and escaped from windows below. Some of the brave and daring youngsters slid down water spouts, among them Morris Harris, a boy of 14 years, who assisted his friend, Tom Shen, with one leg over a shaking water spout. Two girls were dropped to the ground, and one of them sustained serious injuries. One Marion Hayes died at a hospital tonight. The teachers controlled the situation until the mishap at the front door, which proved so fatal. Mother Superior Marie Carmelita said during the funeral service that she had seen all the children had left the upper floors before she did. No bodies were found above the first floor. Requirements Met. Criticism by citizens of the lack of fire escapes on the school building were met by statements from state and town officials that every requirement of the law had been met. Deputy Chief George Neal of the state police, said that the school building was not due to any lack of fire precautions, but simply to the unfortunate place in which the fire started, almost under the front steps, and the accident which blocked the front door.

The building was a three-story brick structure of eleven rooms, nine of which were used for class rooms. The interior was finished in wood and the flames ran entirely through it, so that tonight only the outer walls were standing. It was thought tonight that the names of Elizabeth Nolan, 16, and Mary McCarthy, 8, might be added to the identified dead, but the identification was not positive.

CAMP CONCESSIONS IN YOSEMITE ARE DECLARED MONOPOLY

Vigorous Opposition Necessary to Preserve Park for People of Moderate Means

The federal government is preparing to declare the camp concession in the Yosemite valley, a monopoly, or what will result in the same thing, and only vigorous opposition will prevent it. Quick action is also necessary for the matter in hand before Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, for final consideration. The adoption of this policy, interested people assert, will result in making the Yosemite park a monopoly, and this fact, that both the federal government and will make it wholly the playground of the very wealthy. Joseph Desmond, owner of one camp concession, is the party who is now seeking a monopoly, and this fact is being made known to the public in Washington, at which opponents of the plan were present, the secretary of the interior indicated very plainly that he favored Desmond's proposal, according to reports from the valley. In the course of the hearing, Lane even went so far as to accuse David A. Curry, another camp concessionaire, who is opposing Desmond's plan, of fostering Desmond's monopoly. Lane returned to Washington on September 23, outlying his position. The guests now in what the government will give. David A. Curry, one of the principal opponents of Desmond, wrote the following letter to Stephens T. Mather and Mark Daniels on September 23, outlining his position: "We have no desire whatever to appeal our case to Hon. Franklin K. Lane, if we can secure justice for ourselves and associates at your hands in any adjustment of your affairs, but we would work to the advantage of the government, while also protecting our rights. We ask for all the concessions, whether represented by us or not, all that we ask for ourselves, wherever applicable. We have been assured by you and your predecessors, that we, the founders of the camping business in Yosemite, would be protected if we enlarged to meet the demands of business. We have done this, even turning more than the profits of the last three years into enlarging to meet business necessities that never came. IRON AND STEEL DEMAND UNMET

Every Blast Furnace and Steel Mill in Country Is Operating

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—So great has been the demand for iron and steel in the United States, it was said by authorities today, that virtually every blast furnace and steel mill in the country working day and night to capacity, the demand for iron, steel and steel products can not be satisfied and it is today almost impossible to buy, for immediate delivery, pig iron, scrap iron in appreciable quantities at any industrial plant in the country.

The revival began about the first of last July, has been coming on rapidly with a deluge of orders since the middle of August, and may not yet have reached its high mark.

Within these three months, the price of pig iron has risen approximately 25 per cent and that of steel and steel products—except steel rails has gone up about 15 per cent.

At the present time the demand for pig iron and for the various lines of steel is in excess of the producing capacity of the blast furnaces and steel mills of the United States, and the shortage is being felt by the manufacturers of iron and steel products, and by the consumers of the same.

There is nothing to indicate that there will be a decrease in the demand for any of these products for some time. While prices are still low, they have been and are increasing and apparently will go higher so that fair and reasonable profits may be expected.

Of course, these very satisfactory conditions are more or less affected by the war business, so-called, yet it is undoubtedly true that there is a better feeling throughout the general iron and steel trade than has been experienced for some years past.

Experts who have followed the rising fortunes of iron and steel within the last twelve months are more confident that the volume of business, both domestic and foreign, at present is more than double what it was a year ago, and that there are today 15,000 men employed in iron and steel plants throughout the United States, who were not on the payrolls a year ago. This is about fifty per cent increase.

The firms have been lighted in nearly every blast furnace in the United States. In the case of the Steel Corporation the last remaining idle furnace, at Columbus,

CONSIDER REPORT ON SUBMARINE ACCIDENT

Were Fixtures to Blame for Loss of Life at Honolulu?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Officials of many bureaus are studying the final report of the naval board of inquiry, which investigated the loss of the submarine P-4, with a view to determining whether proceedings for personal responsibility for the act which cost twenty-one lives shall be started. The board found that corroded lead linings and rivets in the submarine's battery tanks caused the accident, and absolved the crew of the boat from all blame. A previous board of inquiry held that every precaution had been taken by officials of the navy yard at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and by the P-4's personnel before her fatal trip.

Secretary Daniels said tonight that he could make no statement as to what further steps might be taken until the bureau officials completed their study of the reports and presented their findings. His attention was called to a published statement issued by the Electric Boat Company, designers of the P-4, disagreeing with the findings of the second naval board and attributing the loss of the vessel to the fact that certain air valves had been left open. Mr. Daniels said the statement also would be referred to the bureau chiefs.

WHO WAS BEHIND FAY CONSPIRACY?

Government Has No Direct Evidence Against His Associates

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—All the alleged evidence obtained by the government against the five men charged with conspiracy in plotting to disable steamships laden with war materials for the allies by placing clock-work bombs on the rudders or propellers of the vessels, is contained in the confession of Robert Fay, who says he was a lieutenant in the German army, and in the explosive materials found in his possession.

This was announced by William J. Flynn, chief of the secret service, and H. Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney. Both asserted that none of the papers and letters taken from Fay's room in Westchester, N. Y., three days after he was arrested here, disclosed any connection between Fay's acts in the United States and officials in Europe. Fay himself said in his confession that his plan to come to America and obstruct war munition ships was approved by German naval officers and officials, but according to Marshall, no evidence other than Fay's word has been obtained.

"The government is far from convinced that the real story of the plot has been unearthed," said Marshall. "We have not finished investigating. Yet we have no basis for further arrests."

That Fay had completed three steel shells with springs and clockwork mechanism ready for attachment to a vessel and had the explosives prepared to place in the shells, was explained by police officials today in answer to questions whether the arrests of Fay and Walter L. Schott, his brother-in-law, last Sunday, had not been made before sufficient evidence had been obtained against other persons. They said they were not sure that the arrests had not been made to carry out his threat of placing a bomb on a ship.

John C. Knox, assistant United States district attorney, was sent to Westchester to examine the scene where Fay carried on his experiments. He visited Fay's rooms and the bath house on the Hudson river, where explosives were stored.

The cases of the five men are to be presented to the federal grand jury next week. Dr. Herlihy, the scene with complexity in the conspiracy, obtained his release on $25,000 bonds today.

COUNTIES CANNOT BUILD STOCKADE

Must Devise Some Other Form of Joint Action Against Tramps

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Thomas Leo Woolwine, district attorney of Los Angeles county, issued a call today for the district attorneys, county counsels and sheriffs of eight Southern California counties to meet here on Thursday to devise a method of preventing tramps from hibernating in the south.

CHRISTIANITY NOT TO BE GIVEN COURT RANK

Buddhism and Shinto Alone to be Represented at Coronation

TOKYO, Oct. 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Japan has decided to adhere to her original intention not to invite a representative of the Christian religion to the coronation ceremonies of Emperor Yoshihito, to be held in Kyoto early next month. Japanese Christians tried to induce the court and government to change the original plans on the ground that Christianity is now one of the prominent religions of the empire, but the authorities have decided that only a representative of the Buddhist and Shinto religions will attend the Kioto ceremonies. The explanation given is that Buddhism and Shinto priests have a court rank in Japan which entitles them to an invitation.

On the other hand, the coronation board will recognize the religions of the west by inviting their representatives to the banquets to be held on November 16 in various cities of the empire simultaneously with the first great coronation feast proper, which will be given at Kioto by the emperor on that date. More than 100,000 people will be present at these various commemorative feasts.

The coronation board says it is very desirous of having it understood that the coming coronation will be distinctly a national affair. It points out that the expenses will be borne by the nation and that officials of the government and every class of people in the empire will be represented.

The members of the diplomatic corps will attend two of the principal coronation ceremonies and the three coronation feasts to be held at Kioto, but they will not be invited to the third great ceremony at Kioto known as the Daijingu, or Grand Harvest Thanksgiving Festival.

No anti-foreign consideration enters into the question, the official statement says, but this being an archaic ritual service, which is purely Japanese, it has been deemed best to invite no foreigners.

This is the ceremony at which the emperor offers the sacred rice to the ancestral gods and himself partakes of the sacred food.

TRUAX HELD ON CHARGE OF ARSON

CALEXICO, Cal., Oct. 28.—W. O. Truax, a jeweler, arrested several weeks ago, following the confession of Charles Burright at Oakland of the operations of an alleged arson ring in Pacific coast cities, was held today for trial in district court at the conclusion of his preliminary examination. Truax was charged with complicity in the burning of the residence of George Bassett here in 1912.

Burright, who was brought here from Oakland, testified that Truax aided in burning the Bassett house and that a sewing machine, bed springs and other metal objects were placed in the house so that insurance on furniture could be collected.

HUNDREDS WILL TESTIFY RIGHT HERE IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Cal.—Some time ago I was in a nervous, run-down condition—a complete break-down. I read an advertisement of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in a San Francisco paper. I commenced using this remedy and it was but short time until my appetite returned, my nerves were strengthened and my general health completely restored. I certainly recommend this remedy.

SUCCESS OF A NEW REMEDY FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, KIDNEYS.

Folks here in town and in adjoining counties are delighted with the results they have obtained by using "AN-URIC," the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is head of the "INVALIDS," KIDNEY, RHEUMATISM, BACKACHE, GOUT, GRAVEL, and all the ailments that result from an accumulation of uric acid in the blood.

These who suffer the day with a backache, stiff legs, arms and muscles, and an aching head (worn out before the day began because they were in and out of bed half a dozen times at night) are now enjoying the perfect rest, comfort and new strength they obtained from Doctor Pierce's An-uric Tablets. To prove that this is a certain uric acid solvent and cleanser and rheumatism. If you've never used the "An-uric," cut this out and send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce for a large sample package. This will prove to you that "An-uric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid and the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector. If you are a sufferer, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box. —Advertisement.

LECTURES ON THE TEETH

A well made bridge gives more satisfaction and comfort to the one that wears it, than any other method by which lost teeth are replaced. My experience in this branch of dentistry extends over a period of twenty years of successful practice. During this time I have specialized in this branch. The skill and experience I have acquired in this time is at your service. My prices are lowest for high grade work.

SHAW SAYS GERMANY CANNOT BE CRUSHED

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(U. P. A. M.)—Lecturing in London last night on "The War," George Bernard Shaw contended that it was the sacred obligation of the Allies to drive the Germans out of Belgium; but, he added, there could be no thought of crushing Germany. He declared that peace ought to be concluded on terms enabling the former enemies to respect each other.

MAY NAME STREET IN PARIS AFTER NURSE

PARIS, Oct. 27, 4:15 a. m.—Protests against the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, in Belgium, recorded by the city council and other Parisian bodies, are not, in the opinion of the local newspapers, a sufficient tribute. A movement has been started in a more durable way, by giving her name to one of the streets of Paris, which now bear names of German towns.

EASTMAN SETS FORTH CAMPAIGN PURPOSES

Business Men of City Contribute to Keep Rate at Low Figure

Secretary W. D. Eastman

By W. D. EASTMAN, General Secretary

The board of directors of the Fresno Y. M. C. A. is composed of some of the best business and professional men of Fresno and they are directing the work of the association in a business-like way. They have a character building plant which has a yearly capacity for serving a certain number of men and boys, and when the building is not filled to overflowing, or to a point where it is difficult to take care of the extra members, the board members do not feel as if the plant is fulfilling its duty to the community.

The Fresno association has a membership of about 1000, which is exceedingly good for a city the size of Fresno, but many of these members will drop out during the year on account of moving away and for other reasons, and then the plant will be running below normal. This campaign is designed to call the attention of the men and boys of Fresno to this particular men's and boys' club and its many advantages at a time when they join the directors will have the full season to work with and for them.

The association is striving to have the most of its memberships fall due early in the fall for the reasons stated above. If the boys and men will form the habit at the beginning of the association year to attend gymnasium classes and the other helpful club meetings, the work can be more readily carried and the members will be able to follow more easily the class work instruction.

The Fresno Y. M. C. A. has not advanced its cost of membership, as have most of the associations throughout the state; the rate remains the same as it has for several years, and when one compares the advantages and benefits received and the membership fees, he will appreciate the fact that these very moderate fees are possible only because the business and professional men of the city supplement them with contributions of their own. If the members are charged with the actual cost of their privileges, it would prevent many men and boys from joining who need what the association has to offer; so the board of directors very wisely choose to serve the very greatest number possible, secure in the belief and support of the public spirited business men.

The association is offering its membership privileges during this special campaign at a slightly reduced rate as an incentive to become a member now and it is anticipated that many will take advantage of the opportunity.

A number of business men pay the annual membership fees of young men and boys who are unable to pay their own, feeling that they are making a contribution to the man and boy life of Fresno that will tell in the years to come. Several firms, feeling that the association influence is good for their employees, show their interest in them by paying one-half the membership fee, and feel by so doing that they are not at all neglectful of their own business interests.

BARSTOW DAIRYMEN FORM ASSOCIATION

New Organization to Deliver 400 Pounds Butter-Fat Per Day to Fresno

A new Dairy Association, known as the Fresno Co-operative Dairy Association, was formed last night by the dairymen of Barstow county, the general purpose of which will be to furnish the trade with a high quality of milk and cream.

Thirty-two dairymen were present, and after organizing elected these officers: W. J. Anthony, W. P. Hansen, J. A. Schottbauer, Stephen G. Grier, J. W. Holland. The directors elected these officers: President, J. W. Holland, Secretary, J. A. Schottbauer.

The new organization has a contract to deliver 400 pounds of butter fat per day to a new cannery in Fresno, the deliveries to begin November 1. The contract calls for 1 cent above San Francisco, and will pay the producer 2 1/2 cents above the Danish Creamery price. Seven hundred pounds will be necessary to supply this contract.

The dairymen in the association are negotiating with the Benham Ice Cream company of Fresno to supply that company with the butter fat from their cows, and this contract, if completed, will be taken over by the new organization.

It is estimated that the farmers and dairymen will receive under the new organization from $1 to $2 more per month per cow than at present.

$300 FOR PORTRAIT. CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Nine hundred dollar damages were awarded to Mrs. Sarah M. L. Huxley for painting a portrait of former Governor Robert S. Huxley of Missouri. Mrs. Huxley sued the committee which passed judgment on the picture for $200.

The portrait was painted in August, 1914. After the inspection the committee decided it was unsatisfactory and refused to accept it.

TAMPERING WITH JURY SUSPECTED

Los Angeles Grand Jury Said to Be Investigating Charges

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Improper advances alleged to have been made to prospective jurors during this week's continuance, during the trial of Matthew A. Schmidt, charged with murder in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910, was said to have caused the county grand jury to begin an investigation today and summon two witnesses.

One of those who responded to a subpoena demanding his immediate attendance for the defense, the other was Miss Marie Latta of San Francisco and Chicago, a friend of Schmidt. Both were told to report back Friday morning, the grand jury having adjourned at that time before the witnesses arrived.

Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, was absent from his office all day and other attorneys associated with him in the prosecution declined to affirm or deny that the grand jury had undertaken an investigation of alleged tampering with the jury.

The grand jury was said by an associate of the district attorney to have figured in the Heywood-Mayer trial at Boise, Idaho, in which Clarence S. Darrow was one of counsel in the defense, and in the trial of Attorney Parrott here growing out of the McNamara brothers trial.

John H. Ryckman, one of Schmidt's attorneys, admitted the employment of Cavanaugh as an investigator by the defense. He confirmed also the statement that the detective had worked for Attorney Darrow.

"This reported grand jury investigation is a great surprise to me," Attorney Ryckman said, "and I am confident that Cavanaugh, as well as all other friends of Schmidt who have shown an interest in his behalf, are absolutely innocent of any wrongdoing."

MILITARY CHANGES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Brigadier General John D. Wieser was assigned today to command of the department of Hawaii, relieving Major General William H. Carter, who retires on November 18, for age. General Wieser will be succeeded as commander of the First brigade in Hawaii by Brigadier General Frederick S. Strong, now commanding the South Atlantic coast artillery division with headquarters at Charleston, S. C.

ARABIC CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The state department is receiving numerous inquiries regarding claims to be filed on account of the loss of life and property in connection with the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine. So far, the department has not progressed in the matter beyond the point of indicating the method of procedure for applicants for indemnity. The German government has expressed willingness to pay indemnities, however, in due course claims will be submitted.

BRANDY LAW WRONG

Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborn's suggestion that Fresno wine makers devote for the present more attention to the making of brandy than of wine is, of course, a practical one to meet the immediate situation and, in fact, being to a considerable extent carried out. But the very fact that such a suggestion can be practically carried out under the present law demonstrates that the law is wrong. If wine making is to be put under the whisky law, then obviously whisky—or brandy—which amounts to the same thing—can be made to fit the law better than wine. But that is precisely the reason why wine making ought not to be put under the whisky law. That is not what we are in the wine business for, and that is not the result which laws affecting the wine business ought to have.

Whatever may be said against wine and wine drinking, there is at least something to be said on the other side also. But there is nothing to be said on the other side of whisky drinking. So long as whisky drinking cannot be stopped, then its manufacture ought to be regulated, and at least the government might as well get out of it all the revenue it can. If the tax is so high that the business goes bankrupt, so much the better. It is a business which does nothing but harm, which has no excuse for existence and nothing to palliate it. The same thing may be said in some degree of the brandy business. As long as people are going to drink whisky, we might as well make brandy for them, which is better. But any law which diverts grapes which might have made wine into the making of brandy is a law to divert them from at least a semi-legitimate and palatable use to a use which has no excuse for existence except that it has not yet been found practical to stop it, and that our particular product is less pernicious than the corresponding products whose place it would take.

If the law is to encourage any of these businesses, certainly wine has the first claim and whisky and brandy have the last claims to the consideration of the law. Wine is at least a drink; whisky and brandy are "dope." A revenue law made for whisky and brandy will naturally tend to increase the production of brandy as a whisky substitute and to decrease the production of wine. So long as that is the law, the producer is doubtless quite right in turning largely to the product to which the law applies, but the only rational revenue law applied to the wine business is one under which as large a fraction of the grapes as possible will go into wine and as small a fraction as possible will go into brandy.

THE TRAMP PROBLEM

The legal difficulty confronting the Southern California counties in their effort to get together to meet the problem of trans-continental tramp migration is one more demonstration of the imperative need of a state constabulary. Here is a problem which, so far as it can be met by police methods at all, must be met at the state line. This state line is in the desert of San Bernardino county. Under our preposterous California constitution, the only county which can spend money for this purpose at the state line is San Bernardino county, the very county which can least afford the expense and which would be the least injured if nothing were done. The trans-continental tramps mostly do not stop in San Bernardino county, and this county would find it easier and cheaper to continue the ancient practice of shunting them on and dumping them into Los Angeles. Los Angeles, of course, does not wish this done, and is more than willing to merely co-operate with San Bernardino county, but to meet a large part of the necessary expense. The same thing is true of the other Southern California counties. The expense is a legitimate and proper one, which they are all willing to meet, but the law apparently will not permit them to do so. Counties may not separately within their own borders, but there is no machinery whereby they may not together at their common frontier against a common danger. Since the danger is also one which affects the entire state, it would be entirely proper policy and would fortunately also be entirely legal for the state to undertake the task provided it had the constabulary to do it with.

This problem of the trans-continental tramp is a very different thing from the unemployed problem. Vagrants do not steal rifles on the brake-beams across the desert to look for real work in California. There is more work at this time in the East than in the West, and those who are genuinely unemployed in the East know that they would not better their chances of employment by coming West. The man tramping within California may be a professional vagrant or a genuine work-seeker. The brake-beam tourist across the desert is a tramp, engaged in his annual migration to a warmer climate. There is no reason why this migration should be permitted; and while the methods proposed in Southern California are primitive enough, they are at least better justified with respect to this problem than they could be with respect to the local problems of relief throughout California. The objection of certain Southern California Socialists that "tramps are men and therefore have the right to travel about," is not well taken. Tramps, indeed, do have the right to travel, but they do not have the right to travel by railroad without paying their fare, and it happens that while they have the legal and moral right to walk in California, practically they never do and probably never can exercise that right. The trip across the desert must be made by train or not at all. The tramps make it by train, but they steal their fares instead of paying for them. Of course, the real place to stop the trans-continental tramp migration is outside of California entirely, on the other side of the desert. But if it is not to be stopped here, the railroad and not the state must undertake to do it. If the railroads would have the courage to police their own trains ruthlessly on the other side of the desert, so that no tramp could get across except by walking, we should have no seasonal vagrant immigration into California. Our own unemployed we should still have with us, and some of these would be tramps who do not wish to work. But if our problem were confined to our own, we should soon learn to separate the genuine workers from the tramps, to find work for the work-seekers and to put the tramps where they also would have to work. The problem is to stop the trans-continental migration. Apparently, the Southern California counties are helpless from lack of legal authority. The state, if it had a constabulary, could do it as well as it can be done from this end. The right way is for the railroads to do it at the other end.

EXTRA SESSION

W. C. Ralston, chairman, Milton Schmitt, campaign manager, and H. H. McPike, secretary of the joint party committee, all insist that no extra session of the legislature is necessary to cure the middle into which their bungled referendum and their success in inducing the people to vote for it has thrown the election laws of California. They do not ask for such a session and they indicate that if Governor Johnson were to call it they would denounce him for the unnecessary and futile "extravagance" of such a session. It is reported that the Governor also is exceedingly reluctant to call an extra session, and this insistence by the very persons in whose behalf the extra session would be called, if it were called, would of course furnish him with plenty of excuse for not adding the extra session to the state. If those who induced the people to take this action are satisfied with it, and do not desire it corrected, it would seem on the surface rather quixotic to thrust on them a favor and a relief which they do not ask and which they insist shall not be given.

Nevertheless, a condition may develop which will make it practically necessary to call an extra session to cure the confusion. It may be that the old-time politicians rather welcome a situation in which the election laws are in such chaos that they may find some excuse for proceeding without any laws at all. The non-partisan primary having been overthrown by the vote of the people, and the partisan primary having been undermined by the stupidity or treachery of its self-appointed guardians, they may undertake to hold party conventions chosen without law, and make nominations in the "good old way" that used to prevail when there was no primary law and nothing was a crime. The fact that these conventions were nominated by the convention, could, to be sure, not be printed on the ballot, but it could be printed in newspaper advertisements and in circulars sent to the voters, and we should thereby be thrust back to a time even before the stage of indirect primary for the election of delegates. The party nominations would again be made by the party bosses, with the people left out of the reckoning.

This may be the exact plan by which the pro-partisans intend to proceed. If they do, it may be necessary to call the legislature to re-establish some sort of a primary system so as to retain some direct voice of the people in making their nominations. To be sure, if these partisans are bent enough on confusion they could again get it by once more invoking the referendum against whatever laws the legislature might pass, and thereby forcing a continuance of the confusion until over the following election. If the recent special election had not been called, that confusion would now have existed by very reason of the referendum petition and there would not be the opportunity to appeal to the legislature to cure the confusion. Exactly this situation could again be produced by another referendum, even if the legislature were now to meet and attempt to straighten it out. The pro-partisan leaders can, if they are determined enough, compel the next nominations to be made without any law. But if this turns out to be their plan, it may be necessary at least to leave to them the responsibility whether they will take the odium of this stultifying themselves.

COUPLE MARRIED 63 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Stevens, of this city, have celebrated their sixty-third wedding anniversary. They have been residents of Auburn for 60 years, or since 1855, and are the oldest pioneers, excepting Justice R. F. Gwynn. Stevens, now quite feeble, was postmaster of Auburn under President Lincoln, being the first postmaster of the town. He was for 19 years agent for the Western Union Telegraph company here, and conducted a drug store for a half century, his son continuing the business after he retired. He has served as a supervisor and as city trustee. Stevens is 72—Auburn (Cal.) Dispatch to Sacramento River.

BLANKET SAVES NINE LIVES.

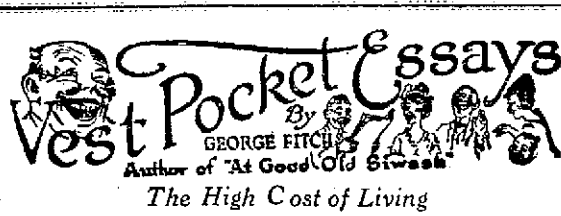

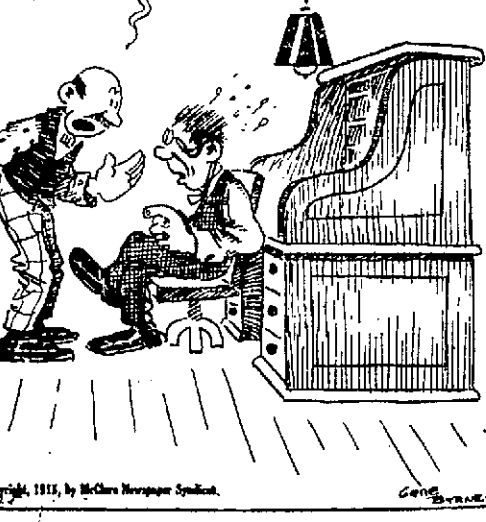

Using a blanket as a fire net, neighbors rescued nine persons from the home of Max Tostopal, thirty-seventh and Aspen streets, when fire cut off their escape early in the morning.

Mrs. Tostopal and her three children were asleep on the second-floor front room, while Max Sabie, with his wife and three youngsters, was sleeping on the same floor in the rear. When they were aroused by neighbors pounding on their door, they found the house filling with smoke and escape down the stairs cut off. They called to their neighbors in the street and told them of their predicament. Two blankets were brought, and were held by neighbors while the Tostopals and Sabies jumped. All landed safely. Tostopal was not at home. He conducts a grocery store, and it is believed that some nibbling at matches caused the blaze. Philadelphia Record.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

By Gene Byrnes

IM A SUBURBANITE AND KNOW WHAT IM TALKING ABOUT—CITY LIFE HAS IT ON THE COUNTRY FROM EVERY ANGLE

The High Cost of Living

This is a lovely world, full of bumper crops and palatial homes, of soft-voiced touring cars and luxurious trains, of good things to eat and absorbing books to read and jobs which get faster every year, and patient golf balls waiting to be abused. The world has never been a closer imitation of Paradise, and we would all be happy and content if it were not for the high cost of living here.

Wages are going up all the time, but so are prices. For a nice exciting little aviation meet there is nothing that can equal the monthly altitude contest between the pay check and the price of necessary luxuries. There was once a time when a man could live well on $15.00 a day and could take off his wages with his socks at night. But how can you live on $15.00 a day now, when the theater trust has raised the price of tickets to $3 a night and there are ten times as many theaters to be supported? There was once a time when $50 a month was a young fortune, and a large family, including a future senator, could be brought up on it. Nowadays it costs $50 a month to put one son through college, and about the most you can expect from him is three or four golf clubs, or, if you are lucky, a permanent daughter-in-law.

There was a time when $30 a month put you in the village smart set, and you could give a party now and then with ice-cream. But what does $30 a month buy you now? Two automobile tires; and you have to get credit for the third, which blew up on the 25th.

There was a time when $150 a month would buy a nice house with a stable in the back and a horse block in front, and you could have two kinds of cake for dessert and go to Chicago to grand opera once a year. Now $150 a month will just about pay for three weeks at a seashore hotel, and if you don't go your next-door neighbor will come in every evening during the winter and tell you how nice it was on the beach.

There was a time when $5,000 a year made a man so rich that he could be universally beloved because he wore old clothes like the plain people. What does $5,000 a year get you now? Just half as much as your friend's $10,000 gets him, and he uses his extra $5,000 making you look like a disappointed Hubbard squash.

The cost of living here is causing untold misery in this nation, and something ought to be done in the way of providing the suffering prosperous with parachutes.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH RED PIMPLES

On Face and Neck. In Blotches. Itching Intense. Painful and Tender.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My face and neck had small red pimples from the size of a pin-head to a pea. They were in blotches and the itching was so intense that I would wake up at night and scratch them until they would bleed. They were painful and tender and at times I could tear my skin. Sharp pains attended the eruptions, and I was nearly crazy. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and the second application gave me relief, so I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment. I was completely healed in six weeks." (Signed) Mrs. R. McVay, 3451 N. 2nd St., Seattle, Wash. Feb. 11, 1915.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN STRONG SUPPORT FOR N. G. C.

Financial Aid for Guardsmen Is Promised at Meeting

All Commercial and Civic Clubs to Take Part in New Move

Thirteen local business men met in the offices of the Merchants' Association yesterday and decided to take definite steps to develop the Fresno companies of the National Guard into an organization second to none in California. Frank Homan acted as chairman and was instructed to appoint a committee of five business men to take the matter up with other commercial and civic organizations in the city with a view of forming a permanent representative committee to see that the two companies get financial and moral support in all their undertakings.
H. E. Patterson, secretary of the Merchants' Association, said last night that all of the business men agreed that the two companies and their commercial organizations "The new quarters for the National guardsmen are not yet paid for, according to figures submitted at the meeting. About $500 is needed to clear out all expenses and give the boys a chance to show what they can do."
To Help Raise Funds
The object of the proposed organization, which is to be composed of bankers, commercial and civic organization representatives, is to give the companies an equal footing with the best companies in the National Guard service.
The Merchants' Association and other organizations will give active support to the organization and will hold drill celebration to be held at the district fair park on Thanksgiving day.
The local companies have never refused to aid all local associations and have been very active in the past. The new organization will be organized for good as we have been doing in the past. The new organization

JAPANESE EDITORS
LEAVE FOR SOUTH

A visit to the rain packing houses, a trip through the plant of the Fresno Republican and several addresses to the members of the local Japanese colony were the chief events in the entertainment of the ten Japanese editors yesterday. The party left shortly before midnight for Los Angeles.
Yesterday morning the members of the party were taken in motor cars to Keweenaw. In the afternoon, under the guidance of Secretary Robertson of the Chamber of Commerce, the visitors were acquired through several fruit packing houses. Later the editors were shown through the different departments of the Republic office, where they displayed deep interest in the publishing methods of this country.
Promote Friendly Relations
The object of the present tour was to obtain first-hand knowledge of American life and politics. The editors declare that it is their intention to promote a more friendly relationship between the two nations through the press.
In the addresses to the local Japanese last night the editors praised their countrymen for the progress they had made in this country and told of the development in Japanese rural conditions.
Leaving this city, the party will go to Los Angeles and thence east to New York, returning by the northern route to San Francisco.

MOTHER, WHO FORGED TO BUY CLOTHES FOR BABY, IS BOUND OVER

Babe's Cries Warm the Hearts of Judge and Attorneys

Stern justice warned yesterday to the cries of a 2-month-old babe; stern justice almost, but not quite, hesitated in its fixed course of action, but after stern justice was worn justice, and Mrs.
B. Jordan, a frail and worn little mother was held to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of forgery.

"This is the roughest business in the world," said Judge Briggs, who, as a magistrate, was forced to find the woman over on her own confession. "This woman needs help, not punishment."
It was a strange court room. The babe cried pitifully and refused to be quieted by the mother's caresses. Judge Briggs from his bench flinched, but did not ask for order.

That the witness might be questioned, District Attorney Homan was forced to draw his chair within a few feet of the witness stand. There, above the cries of the little child, the mother recounted her story in an expostulatory manner, while all in the court room listened sympathetically.

Briefly, her story as such as might be recounted by any mother who was forced to care for her baby under similar circumstances. Mrs. Jordan came from a wealthy family in Chicago. She married a ranch laborer in the southern part of the state. He was unable to get work until a week before the babe was born in Turlock. The baby was without clothes and the mother lacked food.
In the bottom of a trunk given her by a friend, Mrs. Jordan found the bank book of a Mrs. B. L. Pratt. Without a moment's hesitation, she took the book, came to Fresno and cashed not only one but several small checks.

When arrested in Hanford by the detectives from this city three weeks ago, the woman was returned to this city and placed in the detention home. Her complete confession on the stand yesterday will preclude the possibility of a defense in the Superior Court.

SHEPHERD LOSES
LEFT EYE SIGHT

Oculists in Consultation Decide Injured Member Must Be Removed

Unable to restore sight to the left eye of B. F. Shepherd, Jr., who was wounded by a stray pellet from a shot gun fired by his partner, W. G. Cochran, last Monday, oculists yesterday declared that the eye would have to be removed to be removed.
Dr. Walter Scott Franklin of San Francisco and Dr. J. R. Walker of this city were called into the consultation by Dr.
B. H. Trowbridge. All of the doctors agreed that the eye had been damaged by the vision and that a surgical operation was necessary.
The accident occurred last Monday afternoon while the two men were hunting near Sanger. Cochran fired at some birds, not knowing that Shepherd was within a few feet of the spot from which they arose.

AGRICULTURIST AND EDITOR VISITS HERE

Publisher of Iowa Farmer Sees Country Around
Fresno

J. W. Jarnagin, agriculturist and editor, publisher of the Iowa Farmer at Des Moines, Iowa, spent yesterday seeing the fruit and farm districts of Fresno county. Mr. Jarnagin visited Kearney Farm yesterday with Dr. R.
Cooper of the Fresno County Reception Committee. With Mrs. Jarnagin, the Iowa man is the guest of their niece, Mrs. L. J. Brewster of Weldon and Palm streets.

Jarnagin has been visiting in the west for the last month. He was the Iowa delegate, appointed by
G. W. Clark, at the Dry Farming Congress held in Denver. He is Iowa's accepted authority on all agricultural matters and has been in the newspaper and publishing business of his state for the last 25 years.

Two sons of Jarnagin are now actively engaged in newspaper work. W.
C. Jarnagin is the managing editor of the Des Moines Capital, the newspaper owned by former U. S. Senator Lafayette Young, and Roy Jarnagin is the sports editor of the same publication.
J. W. Moody, another Iowa, who came to Fresno yesterday to see the agricultural possibilities of Fresno county, tells of the remarkable rise in prices of farming land in his state within the last ten years. Moody is the owner of a 400-acre farm near Reinbeck, Iowa, which has risen in value from $10 to $400 an acre in the last half score of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody are guests of Mrs. C. A. Godden of 825 Rainier street, a former resident of Reinbeck, Iowa. The visitors were shown Kearney Farm yesterday by N. R. Cooper of the Fresno County Reception Committee.

FOR WIFE MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—Patrick Lamy, father of seven children, was sentenced today to life imprisonment at San Quentin for the murder of his wife Della in the backyard of his home June 20. A jury in the superior court fixed the penalty at life imprisonment at the request of the district attorney, who quoted Mrs. Lamy's last words, condemning the crime. One of her children found Mrs. Lamy dying from a bullet wound and summoned a minister.

MINISTERS CONDEMN LIQUOR ADS. IN

Pastors Deplore Policy of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company

Families Must Have Directories in Homes, Says
Methodist Association

A resolution deploring the policy of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in admitting liquor advertising in its directory was passed by members of the San Joaquin Valley Methodist Ministers' Association which assembled in the First M. E. church of Fresno for its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon. The resolution states that in the most recent issue of the directory there are sixty separate liquor ads. The members said family magazines now refuse liquor ads, and asserted that the telephone company should recognize the sentiment of the day's meeting and refuse such advertising in the future, since families must have the books in their homes.

Yesterday's gathering was the first since the annual conference at San Diego and was largely attended. The Rev. A. L. Baker was the resolution League of Ministers, called attention to the initiative measures providing for the abolishment of the saloon in 1918 and the complete abolishment of the liquor business in 1920, as presented by the California Campaign Federation. Next Sunday, October 31, has been named special day for all the churches of California to get signatures to the petition to call the election next November. The campaign federation expects to get 100,000 signatures to the petition.

Plan Meeting at Selma
Plans were made by the ministers yesterday for a ministerial institute of Methodist ministers of the San Joaquin Valley to be held in Selma, November 15, 16 and 17, to take the place of the regular monthly session. Among the speakers at these meetings will be the Rev. George W. White, pastor of the First M. E. church of Oakland.
A resolution of sympathy for the Armenians in Turkey was also passed. A committee was authorized to write that in all probability the Armenians will be able to return to their homes in Turkey.

Dr. Oliver Speaks

"A Working Conception of the Church" was the subject of an address delivered before the ministers' meeting at the morning session by Dr. John Oliver, pastor of the First M. E. church of Fresno. Dr. Oliver told of the different types of ministers with different conceptions of what the church means.
Some are constitutional with the prayer's personality and some grow out of environment. He said
"The church is the unit of the unit of prayer, the unit of social justice and the unit of family fellowship," Dr.
Oliver said. "We lose the true conception of the church when we make her fundamentally the adjuster of individual relations.
The idea of sonship that grows out of the new birth brings with it the true conception of the church. She is the instrument of God to protect the family from the saloon and the white slave. The purpose is to make a community of interests which holds everybody together in neighborly fellowship, and this conception means that the family is to become the political unit of our social endeavor."

Dr. S. W. Gamble of Rolinda, the National Sabbath evangelist, and church worker of international reputation, spoke to the afternoon meeting on "Sunday, the True Sabbath." Dr.
Gamble has traveled 100,000 miles over the United States, Canada and Mexico, and is the author of a book on the scriptural interpretation of the Sabbath.

PYTHIAN LEADER

Representative of Grand Lodge Talks on Growth of the Order

W. H. Maguire, of the Knights of Pythias-Castle Association, which includes the Grand Lodge of the Grand Lodge of Pythias, delivered a fraternal address to the members of the organization at their Castle Hall in Fresno last evening.
Mr. Maguire is visiting all the lodges in this grand camp, which includes the Grand Lodge of the Grand Lodge of Pythias. The purpose of his visit is to ascertain what is for the general good of the order and to aid in building up the organization.
"We are making wonderful progress," said Mr. Maguire last night. "The Knights of Pythias, with a membership of 24,000, and we are still growing. Everywhere that I have been I find the lodges in splendid condition and the membership enthusiastic over the outlook."

SOCIETY

Miss Onelda Madison has postponed the dancing party at which she is to compliment Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pottle of San Francisco, from Saturday evening, until Tuesday evening, at the Sunnyside Country club.

Mrs. Sigmond Wormser was the hostess at a very delightful informal party yesterday afternoon at her apartments in the Maubridge, commencing Miss Margaret Thomas of Harrodsburg, Kentucky, who is being made the raison d'être for a number of functions during her sojourn in Fresno as a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Montgomery Thomas. The guest list included a congenial group of friends numbering over a dozen.

Mrs. Floyd L. R. Durka was a bridge hostess yesterday afternoon at her home on San Joaquin street, commencing Miss Deasy Brooks, whose marriage to Glen Johnson will be celebrated on November 4.

Yellow chrysanthemums gave a festive air to the living rooms, where card tables were arranged for the afternoon's games, and at their conclusion soups for highest scores went to the guest of honor, who also received a dainty guest prize, and to Miss Margaret Humphrey. Refreshments were served on table trays during an intermission between progressions.

Among those who shared the pleasures of the afternoon were Mesdames Herbert Levy, Sophia Gilbert, George W. Martin, A. J. Dillert, E. H. Williams, Fred Swartz, Carl J. Jensen, John Morton, Misses Deasy Brooks, Pearl Brooks, Nell Munro, of Birmingham, N. Y.; Emma Glass, Leticia Bisset, Ploy Long, Marguerite Humphrey, Frances Cox, Clara Grant, Ruby Olney, Fanny Payne, Ames, Griffith, Dorothy Burdick, Zoe Glasgows, Georgia Barker, Minnie Marshall.

Mrs. E. C. Curtis and son, Robert, are enjoying a visit in Woodlake, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gundelinger.

Miss Minnie Marshall leaves tomorrow morning for Los Angeles, where she is to spend the winter studying with one of the vocal teachers of the southern metropolis.

Mrs. John Fairweather has returned from a pleasant outing in the bay cities, on which she was accompanied by Mrs. Frances Kendall McClintock of Pasadena. Mrs. McClintock is at present visiting friends in Pittsburg, California, and will make a return visit in Fresno, enroute to her home in the south.

Miss Marjorie Harris has gone to Berkeley, where she is a guest at the Delta Gamma house.

Miss Fanny Payne entertained the members of her card club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Del Mar avenue. The hospitality of the occasion was extended to Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Roxie Bisset and Miss Georgia Barker, who were substitutes members. The club will be entertained next Wednesday by Mrs. Payne.

Be Your Own "Repair Man"

In Summer the human machinery easily gets out of order. Don't dope it with drugs or drinks. Help Nature do the repair work by eating

SHREDDED WHEAT

The food that supplies all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain in a digestible form. No "tire troubles" where Shredded Wheat is made an important part of the daily diet. A food for athletes and invalids, for youngsters and grown-ups—for any meal in any season. Your grocer sells it.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness, then pour over it milk or cream, adding salt or sugar to suit the taste. Deliciously nourishing for any meal when served with sliced peaches, milk or cream, or with fresh fruits of any kind. Try toasted Tri-crust, the Shredded Wheat Wafer with butter, cheese or marmalade.

Wonderful Results from Powdered Olive Oil

POWDERED olive oil both cleanses and heals—goes right at the cause of all trouble and makes the skin perfectly healthy.

It removes every particle of grease and dirt that collect on the skin and all those body oils and poisons that clog the pores—at the same time heals and nourishes the skin, making it soft and smooth like velvet.

It seems to work like magic. There's a feeling of refreshing cleanliness and comfortable softness your skin has never had before. Blackheads, pimples and oily skin quickly disappear. It cleanses perfectly but is soothing and healing—just the thing for tender and delicate skin. Physicians recommend it as a skin tonic.

This scientific skin preparation—it's called THORO—is easy to use and keeps your skin and complexion in fine condition all the time. Try it as a substitute for soap or meal and before using creams or cosmetics. The results are simply amazing.

Ask Bowman Drug Co., Fresno's leading druggist for THORO in the beautiful refillable dispenser. Price 35 cents. Three for $1.00. Or send to THE THORO CO., Los Angeles, and get it by return mail, postpaid.

ANTELOPE OFFERED CITY, BUT ANIMALS MUST BE CAPTURED

Plan to Run Antelope Down on West Side in Automobiles

The city park commissioners have been offered two antelope provided they are captured on the Cheney ranch at Pancho Creek on the west side.

The offer has been made by Charles Chalup, a grocer on Fresno avenue, who leases the ranch on which the antelope roam. The verbal offer was made to Louis Gundelfinger and B. E. Cronkite, members of the park commission.

First, the park commissioners must secure a permit from the game warden to capture the antelope.

Then they must capture the animals. This is the most difficult of the two requirements. Chalup has suggested to the commissioners that the antelope be run out of the country and then chased in automobiles to the level land. Cronkite has already suggested the mode of capture to many autoists and they are anxious to take part for "the sport of the game."

If the park commissioners are successful, the antelope will be placed in the paddock at Hoeding Park with the two elk.

Last evening tendered a reception to Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Dexter, who recently came to Fresno where Rev. Dexter has assumed the pulpit of Grace M. E. church.

Mrs. E. E. Geisler of Los Angeles is enjoying a visit in Fresno as the guest of her sister, Miss Kate Parsons.

Members of the University Club will enjoy the first of the season's series of supper dances this evening at the Orpheum.

Mrs. D. H. Trowbridge will entertain at luncheon today, commencing Miss Margaret Thomas of Kentucky.

Mrs. Roy Garman and Miss Nell Bramblett will be joint hostesses at a function this afternoon, at which Miss Deasy Brooks will be the complimentary guest.

LINCOLN SCHOOL PUPIL HURT

Ferdinand Siler, a pupil of the Lincoln school, who lives at 524 F street, was treated by Dr. W. L. Adams at the emergency hospital yesterday for a laceration of the scalp, received when he was accidentally hit with a ball bat. He was removed to his home by Truant Officer E. Stanford.

FIRE BURNS SHED

A fire shortly after noon yesterday destroyed a shed at the rear of the E. Luthi home at 142 Stanislaus street. The loss is placed at $25.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Talks

If you want advice on beauty topics, write to Miss Russell, care of this paper. She will be glad to answer all questions. If a personal answer is desired, stamped and self-addressed envelope should be sent with the query.

The woman who does all that is expected of her by her husband and friends must be more than human.

A woman of 28, who has been married eight years, has four children, goes into society which she calls lovely, attends dinners, luncheons and dancing parties. Keeps house and dresses in the latest fashions (that alone is work of the hardest kind), yet she wonders why, when she tires a little at dances, she looks badly and the lines give a worn-out look to her face.

I doubt if any lover, however ardent and handsome, would ever win a wife if she comprehended what life would bring her.

But entering ignorantly upon these duties which tax mind and body, she insists upon adding to them the full tale of society, brick-making, and wonders why she looks worn out. She is worn out and one will droop and die as certainly as any overtaxed creature long before her time.

And, what is more desperate still, she will be nagging and resenting to her beauty-loving husband long before she dies.

No woman in ordinary circumstances can rear four children in eight years and keep the run of society, too.

A mother, of all women, should be in bed at 10 o'clock each night. If she fails to do this, she is neglecting her health and appearance. All of the women do it who are radiantly handsome at an age when other women retire from the foreground.

But these home performers who think little of themselves and too much of society chatter, never think of foregoing being up nights. Can you wonder that they fade?

It is taking a risk to suggest cosmetic aids to women who are given to overdoing processes which promise improvement in looks.

Intelligence is the punishment of neglected health—neglected perhaps for generations.

The precept "obedience is better than sacrifice" ought to be written on every door that it might be heeded in going out and coming in, both for the written law of morals and the unwritten millstone of natural law.

Obedience, day by day and hour by hour, to simple duties is more a test of sound brain and moral fiber than any amount of the heroics young ladies are fond of assaying.

All through the history of the summer young women have been using pots of extravagant cosmetics in hopes of securing a blameless complexion, when nature would have helped them quickly to clear skin and bright eyes if they would only have worked with her.

I can only caution the hard-working housewife to take as much rest as she does pleasure, or what she calls pleasure. But I fear that there would be too little time for fulfilling her rules of rest.

Society and its attending duties are not for young mothers. They must find all their pleasures in bringing up children. Their sacrifice is not always worth the offering, but it's a woman's duty to the world to offer it.

Marriage and children are not detrimental to health of mind or body. In fact, housewife life is the best to perfection by fulfilling nature's laws.

No mother need neglect herself. Rather should she take great care to

District Club Events

The Friday club will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Burns, 2571 Washington street. Mrs. E. E. Reuburn to lead in the study of "The Play Boy of the Western World."

The Home Department of the Parlor Lecture Club held its initial meeting yesterday afternoon at the club house, which was of purely social character. Under the direction of Mrs. W. A. White and Mrs. W. J. Elbert, hostess for the afternoon, an afternoon of cards had been arranged and about twenty-five tables accommodated the members who assembled for

WOMEN WHO LEAD THE WAY

BY MARIE DILLE

Miss Marion Tilden Burritt, a Worker for Peace

For many years the public has known indirectly that Marion Burritt had a "cause." It was not, however, a cause that aroused great degrees of interest until the outbreak of the war. Miss Burritt is a peace advocate who does not limit her activities to war times.

She was working for peace before the present conflict was dreamed of. She believed that a preparation for war invites it and tried to make clear to others the ideas that were so clear to herself. She believes that a constantly supported war machine is a drain on the people of a country and leads to conflict and poverty.

Miss Burritt is the field secretary of the New York Peace Society and a member of the peace committee of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs. Her greatest work has been arousing the interest of women and children in a movement toward peace. She has done this largely through the women's clubs of the country. For four years now she has devoted her time to educate women and children for peace.

Like other great enthusiasts who believe their mission is the greatest on earth and that women who seek to establish other reforms are overlooking the genuine issue, she has no patience with women who fail to see the all importance of working first for peace. She has been surprised and dismayed to find that other women considered the reforms in which they were interested of greater importance.

She has in reality accomplished a gigantic work in building up a peace organization in America. Three years ago no actual movement of this kind had been established among women. Now practically every state federation in the country has a peace committee with a membership comprised of the best informed women in the organization. Miss Marion Burritt is responsible for this.

Miss Burritt talked to more than one hundred clubs during the winter preceding the beginning of the European war and to many more last year. She has discussed the subject from every angle, historically, politically, economically and from the humanitarian standpoint. Wherever she has gone a peace committee has followed until the peace organization in the United States surpasses by times the numbers in the army and navy.

The advisability of studying a movement for peace was first introduced into clubs three years ago at a meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in San Francisco. A resolution was adopted at that time recommending a study of the peace question. Sub-committees were then formed under the public education committee, but no general peace committee was organized. Until November of the following year when Miss Burritt spoke in Buffalo, at the convention of the New York State Federation, no actual committee was organized.

When she had spoken there New York Club women saw that there was an important place for the peace movement as there was for art, music and sanitation. So the committee was formed and Miss Burritt became a member of it. Somewhat later she spoke in New Jersey and the women of that state responded. She has now talked before practically every state federation in the country. It was she who planned the present method of the observation of May 18 as Peace day.

Miss Burritt is especially fitted for her work in the interests of peace. She is a grand niece of Emily Burritt, a pioneer in the cause of international peace. The first peace conferences held in Brussels, Frankfurt and Paris, were organized by him. He also advocated a world court and a parliament of nations fifty years before the Hague Conference was called. Miss Burritt has been interested in the movement all her life and only the years can prove the practical development of the work she has begun.

MARIE DILLE.

CRONKITE TO START NEW SEWER PLANS

No Definite Arrangements Made for Combining With Storm Sewer

To date B. E. Cronkite, city engineer, has not drawn any plans for Fresno's new sanitary and storm sewer, but hopes to start some time the last of the month or the first of next. The city engineer will take his plans up with the city trustees and the mayor before any definite action is taken. Because of the level country, there is some difficulty in securing the right grade to carry off the sewage and storm water.

Mayor Snow has instructed the city engineer to draw plans and specifications, but no specific date has been set for their completion. Cronkite will devote much time to perfecting the plans so that no flaws can be found when the matter is put up to the people at a bond election.

Mayor Snow's idea is to put in a sewer system that will last the city for the next 25 years. He recently said that the present system was inadequate and that it was only a matter of time before the entire system would have to be replaced with larger pipes. The present intention is to combine a storm sewer with the other sewer, but no definite plans have been decided upon.

HIGH SCHOOL MEN WILL MEET HERE

California Principals to Have Convention Here in December

First convention of California high school principals will be held in Fresno December 20, 21 and 22. Plans for the meeting were made by Will Wood of Sacramento, commissioner of high school education, who was in Fresno in conference with C. C. Starr yesterday. An act passed by the last legislature provides for the holding of a convention of the high school men once each year.

The session in Fresno will be held while the schools are having their Christmas vacations. About 300 principals are expected. Commissioner Wood is co-operating with C. C. Starr, N. R. Cooper and Frederic Lidske in making plans for the meeting. Wood will arrange a program for the meeting.

One afternoon will be given over to sightseeing about Fresno and Fresno county.

U. S. WILL ENFORCE STATE ANGLING LAWS

Fishermen in Yosemite and Sequoia Park Region Come Under Statutes

Fishermen will no longer be permitted to angle in the lake without a license from the state and in violation of the seasons provided by the state of California. The superintendent of the Sequoia National Forest has enforced the fish laws in his region for some time and the federal authorities in the Yosemite region also will see that the laws are obeyed there.

Owing to stipulations at the time the parks were ceded to the federal government by the state, state laws as in operation at the time are in effect there, but of course must be enforced by the federal authorities. Hunting is absolutely prohibited in all the federal territory.

The regulations calling for the enforcement of the laws have been in effect for several months according to Andy Ferguson, state fish and game commissioner.

JUDGE MOUGH DIES.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28.—Warwick Mough, former judge of the Missouri supreme court, and for more than half a century prominent in legal and political activities in this state, died at his home here tonight. He was born in London county, Va., 78 years ago.

Would You Escape CATARRH OF THE STOMACH?

THERE is no ailment known to medical science so fatal to human health, happiness and worldly progress as catarrh of the stomach.

This common malady begins with loss of appetite and is characterized by belching of gas-coated tongue, in spells of faintness, bad taste in mouth and sudden breath-sour stomach shooting pains in stomach, chronic feeling after eating and the sensation as if lead in the stomach.

ENDS IN DYSPYPSIA!

A slight attack of stomach catarrh will sooner or later lead to bad case of dyspepsia and complete over throw of the organization.

PIONEER OF FRESNO IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Archie Grant's Condition Thought to Be Critical

Archie Grant, pioneer resident of this city, who has been critically ill for the past few weeks, was reported to be extremely low last night.

Mr. Grant came to Fresno from Nova Scotia over 30 years ago. For five years he was a large sheep owner of the county. In 1890 he planted one of the first raisin vineyards in the county, south of the fair grounds. In 1910 he married Georgia Payne of Selma. He is owner of several valuable pieces of city property.

MADISON SCORES REVENUE OFFICIAL

Believes Producing End Wine Industry Should Have Been Consulted

Editor Republican—I see by the daily papers that Commissioner W. H. Osborn, who I understand is at the head of the Internal Revenue Department at Washington, was here in Fresno a few hours yesterday.

From information previously received from various sources, I was led to believe that Mr. Osborn came here to investigate wine conditions, and the effect that the so-called brandy tax would have on the grape growing industry of the San Joaquin valley.

I was pleased to think that the grape growers were to have a chance to lay this matter before the government at Washington, from the growers' point of view; but from inquiry made I cannot find that the gentleman had interviewed anybody except the California Wine Association representatives, whom he came with and went away with, with perhaps the exception of one or two wine makers located here.

I do not know how it is possible for Mr. Osborn to obtain a clear understanding of this matter without which could not be done in a few hours, as the San Joaquin valley is large, and produces by far the largest percentage of grapes that are affected by this brandy tax. As a matter of fact, there is hardly any other section of the state very much affected by the said tax. Would it not have been just to have investigated as thoroughly from the producing end, as it would be from the manufacturing end, which, if past history is of any value, is not the same line as the growers' interests.

As a grower of a considerable quantity of wine grapes, as well as raisin grapes, both of which may be affected by this brandy tax, I trust that the producers' point of view and necessities in this matter be given due consideration.

JAMES MADISON.

MAKE PLANS TODAY FOR LIBERTY BELL

City Trustees and Special Committee Will Have Luncheon Together

Arrangements for the program when the Liberty Bell arrives here on the afternoon of November 11, will be discussed at a meeting this noon at the Commercial Club, which will be attended by City Trustees Waterman, Hart and Irwin and representatives of various civic organizations of the city. The plans will be discussed during the luncheon hour and a special menu has been prepared by the chef at the Commercial Club for the city trustees and the other committeemen. Colonel Preble, who went to San Francisco and was instrumental in securing the routing of the Liberty Bell through the San Joaquin Valley and with a stop at Fresno, has been invited to be present at the meeting today. C. C. Starr, city superintendent of schools, has also been asked to attend the conference, as it is that all of the school children will be given an opportunity to view the historic relic. According to present plans, the bells bearing the Liberty Bell will arrive in Fresno about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of November 11 and will remain here for 48 minutes. The time has been advanced to that hour from the original time of 8:15.

The following have been asked to be present at the meeting this noon: C. H. Jasper, Southern Pacific agent in Fresno; F. A. Horna, president of the Merchants' Association; W. F. Holden, representing the Musicians' Union; Captain J. F. Phillips, representing the militia companies of Fresno; W. W. Phillips, president of the Chamber of Commerce; W. E. Holland, representing the Fresno County Republican Committee; and John G. Goehring, chief of police.

PEACH GROWERS TO ORGANIZE IN TWO MORE COUNTIES

Central Committee Workers to Renew Campaign Today

Kingsburg, Modesto, Parlier, Laton and Hanford Get Busy

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, a growers rally will be held in Merced under the auspices of the Merced Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of soliciting a working committee to solicit subscriptions to the proposed Growers' Protective Association. William Glass, chairman of the state organization committee, J. P. Bolton, T. B. McKelvy and Frank Nicewander of Fresno will address the meeting, explaining in detail the object of such an organization.

The committee of speakers will go to Turlock from Merced, where another meeting of growers has been arranged for by the Turlock Board of Trade. The board has sent out invitations to nearly 500 farmers, requesting them to attend the rally and learn of the benefits they may derive from a producers' marketing association. A large subscription is expected from the growers in this district, who have suffered greatly from the poor prices paid for their dried peaches.

In some sections, the growers have gone so far as to grub up their peach trees and chop them into stove wood. This is foolish, according to men who are backing the proposed organization, as good prices can be had for all fruit, if all the growers will join together and support the marketing association. A small subscription is better than no aid at all, but all farmers are being urged to "go the limit."

Meetings for tomorrow will be announced in the Republican tomorrow. Livingston is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, Kingsburg for Wednesday, Modesto for Thursday, Parlier for Friday, Hanford for Saturday and Hanford for Sunday.

Medicine Committee Named.

Modesto committee of workers was named yesterday by Chairman George Stoddard. They are J. C. Callaway of Modesto, V. D. Whitmore of Cores, J. F. Hargrave of Kingsburg, J. H. Courtney of Westport, C. C. Turner of Oakdale, T. H. Kewin of Salina and C. M. Paddock of Patterson. This section has already raised $2500.

Kingsburg has again come to the front. O. E. Ratliff and W. B. Kramling came forward yesterday with 35 new subscriptions for $1350 worth of stock in the proposed company. The orchardist in this section have done remarkably well and are said to be in line to give further aid to the organization.

Also have made substantial reports yesterday. The work in these communities is still in progress.

The subscriptions sent in to Secretary J. P. Bolton are:

Parlier—J. P. Berg, $120; H. M. Hart, $80; B. M. Wiggins, $40; George Myers, $50; Christian Madson, $40; John E. Noren, $100; J. R. Parker, $100; J. K. Patterson, $200; R. L. Nussman, $100; G. F. Zediker, $100; N. G. Zediker, $200.

Kingsburg—Roy Hurley, $40; O. S. Ratliff, $40; F. O. Nelson, $40; H. C. Phillips, $40; P. J. Wickstrom, $40; Carl Haggmark, $40; J. P. Kramling, $80; John Jones, $40; A. L. Cross, $100; B. E. Brown, $40; J. O. Stallings, $40; E. T. Brown, $40; J. D. Powell, $40; H. Wilson, $40; W. R. Hunt, $40; Lawrence Borg, $40; J. P. Denham, $40; John Wall, $40; H. R. Grantham, $40; W. O. Burnett, $40; Walter Hunt, $40; Dr. A. J. Kaiser, $40; William Schmitt, $40; F. R. Dooms, $40; E. F. Ede, $40; E. C. Ham, $40.

Laton—R. D. Lomler, $40; Mary A. Crouser, $40; M. D. Case, $80; J. S. Eastbrook, $40; Levi B. Pearson, $40; E. R. Allen, $40.

E. R. Montgomery of Hanford, $40.

LARGE CROWD GREET EVANGELIST SHANNON

"Weeping Over Jerusalem" Subject of Sermon Last Night

A large audience last night heard Evangelist Dan Shannon speak in the tent here on the subject of "Weeping Over Jerusalem." Excerpts from the address follow:

"The sin of Fresno is the sin of Jerusalem—Jesus is rejected. Fresno should look to the fate of the old city. Abraham Lincoln was our great American. His death was mourned by the sorrow of the people. So it was with Jesus.

"The mission of the church is not social service, nor culture, nor the cure of physical ills. The mission of the church is to seek and to save the lost.

"I have said a great deal against the churches of Fresno, but in spite of the 'time servers,' the 'pledge seekers' and the 'money grabbers,' the church is the noblest and purest agency in this city. I want all of my converts to join churches who have stood behind this revival.

Before the sermon a large delegation from Kingsburg sang several numbers in Swedish, while a German chorus of this city also gave several numbers.

U. D. OF C INSPECT SAN DIEGO FAIR

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 28.—Returning to their homes after a convention held in San Francisco, 150 members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy today were the guests of honor at the Panama-California Exposition, where Daughters of the Confederacy day was celebrated. In the party were several national officers of the organization.

Entering the grounds over the Puente Cabrillo, the visitors and hundreds of other members from southern California cities were welcomed by President G. A. Davidson. Local members of the order entertained the visitors at luncheon, and they were tendered a reception in the California building, by San Diego society women. Among the prominent officers in the party were Mrs. P. G. Odenheimer, the newly elected president general; Mrs. Daisy McL. Stevens, the retired president general; and Mrs. Thomas G. Latham, recently chosen honorary president of the national organization.

EASTERN FARMERS SAY GOOD-BYE TO FRESNO

Santa Fe Special to Reach San Francisco Saturday

The Santa Fe farmers' special pulled out at 6 o'clock yesterday morning for stopovers at towns to the north as per schedule. Many of the party had already risen from a good night's rest and waved good-byes to those who happened to be at the station. Several said that they expect to visit Fresno again during the next year or two.

The special will reach San Francisco by Saturday, where the party will disembark after visiting the California building.

WINE MEN HOPE TO AVOID BRANDY TAX

Extra Amount of Natural Alcohol Content Is Being Fermented

In order to avoid the high tax on brandy for fortifying sweet wines, the wine manufacturers have hit upon the plan of fermenting the grape juice to ferment, enough natural content alcohol to preserve it. Fresno port will be a new brand on the market this year, as soon as the experiment is carried to the point where the wine may be offered for sale to the wholesalers and retailers.

There is no tax on natural content alcohol that is developed in the wine of its own fermentation. Under the old established standard the sweet wine had from 18 to 21 per cent of fermentation and from 4 to 6 per cent of sugar or wine must. Ordinarily the standard would be 20 per cent alcohol or brandy and 6 per cent sugar. It has been learned by recent experiment that 16 per cent natural content alcohol may be developed under the right kind of fermentation cure, with 10 per cent of sugar.

Under the new proposed natural sugar content of the grape is fermented into alcohol, it takes two per cent of sugar to make one per cent of alcohol. Some of the grapes this year have contained as high as 40 per cent natural sugar content, making it easy to reduce the Fresno brandy by fermentation. In some instances, where the grapes contain a low sugar content, it is necessary to add a highly concentrated must in order to produce the necessary alcohol content to preserve.

It is the hope of the wine makers to establish a new method of manufacture that will enable them to put wine on the market without fortifying with brandy. Should this be done, some other scheme of taxation would have to be worked out by the government.

EDWARDS CASE IS AGAIN CONTINUED

New Ordinance Recommended to Prevent Sale of Liquor With Meals

The police and fire commissioners in regular session last night again postponed the hearing of C. E. Edwards until November 2; recommended that the ordinance committee meet with Lewis H. Smith, city attorney, and draft a new liquor ordinance to overcome the objections in the old and prevent the sale of liquor in restaurant without meals and the sale of liquor with noodles in Chinese restaurants; and had Patrouille Tausshill on the carpet in executive session.

No intimation was given as to the reason for calling the officer before the board. According to the police report Tannahill has been on the "sick list" for the last five days, but he was sufficiently improved last night to be before the commissioners. His case will be considered again at the special meeting.

C. E. Edwards and his attorney, N. Lindsay South, were before the board last night. The first step was to present Edwards' claim of $223.35 for back salary. No action was taken. Then at request of South the hearing on charges presented by the chief of police was postponed until November 8 as Edwards' witnesses were not present. The evidence to be given by his two witnesses, now out of town, will be stipulated by agreement between the commissioners and Edwards and presented a week from Monday.

C. H. Toole from the Y. M. C. A. presented a plan to have all the members of the police and fire departments become members of the Y. M. C. A. and take advantage of the exercise to be secured in the gymnasium. The commissioners withheld action but gave Toole permission to solicit for members in the two departments. His plan was to have a squad wagon at the Y. M. C. A. to take firemen to a fire in case an alarm was turned in while they were in the gymnasium. Fire Chief Wintermute expressed himself as being in favor of the men taking exercise but did not see how the firemen could be spared from the engine houses. Chief Goehring was of the same opinion in regard to the police department.

The report of J. G. Wintomula, chief of the fire department, was accepted. The report in part follows:

22 alarms; three minor accidents—hook and ladder truck turned over by the tilter becoming jammed, Hose No. 5 and the chief automobile collided at Blackstone and Belmont avenues; one of the horses of Engine No. 1 fell while responding to an alarm.

The report of John Goehring, chief of police, follows: 673 arrests, 36 cases in the Emergency hospital, 543 calls answered by the patrol wagon, and 1062 miles traveled, $302.75 collected in the police court.

The Bill Shows the Economy of Electric Light

CONSIDERING ALL THE CONVENIENCES which Electric Light brings, how very inexpensive it really is! Other bills have been steadily growing larger and larger. But not so with the Electric bill. The high cost of living has not affected the cost of electricity. Electric Service is cheaper than ever.

Electricity Means True Economy in the House

Today we have more and better light, more housekeeping helps such as Electric Cleaners, Washing Machines, etc., than ever before, but we can enjoy all this at practically no more expense than the lighting alone cost us a few years ago. Electric Service has always increased; the cost has always decreased.

Make your food more tempting with Cottolene

For making cakes, pies and pastry—for all shortening and frying—Cottolene is supreme.

Cottolene is an exact combination of the purest, richest, most carefully refined cottonseed oil and the choicest beef stearine obtained from selected, high grade leaf beef suet. Cottolene is itself one of the purest of pure foods.

Cottolene makes foods more digestible—more wholesome—makes them taste better. Use it for every kind of shortening and frying and for making cakes and pastries.

Cottolene

For a quarter of a century Cottolene has been growing steadily in favor. It is not offered as a substitute or as being "just as good" as other shortening and frying fats. It is an original product and better than anything else that you can use for shortening or frying. Insist on getting real Cottolene.

Cottolene is ready for use as you take it from the pail. It creams up beautifully and blends readily with the flour.

Use a third less of Cottolene than of any other shortening or frying fat. You can use it over and over for frying. Cottolene does not absorb tastes or odors. Always heat Cottolene slowly.

Pails of various sizes, to serve your convenience. Arrange with your grocer for a regular supply.

U. S. DIPLOMATIC REPORT IS MADE

Some Difficulties With Both Sides of Big War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A second installment of what has come to be known as the United States government's "White Book" was issued today by the State department. It gives the text of important diplomatic correspondence with the belligerent governments of Europe, since the publication of the first installment last May.

Headlines constituting a public record of the position of the United States as a neutral country for the future, the volume reveals to the public a series of charges and counter-charges by the belligerents that reflect the difficulties constantly encountered in the delicate task of observing neutrality. Most of the correspondence never before has been made in text, although press dispatches have covered much of it in substance.

One of the most interesting features of the new edition is the publication of the first time of a memorandum of the German Foreign office, referred to in a colloquy between Chairman Flood of the House Foreign Affairs committee and Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, at the hearing on the bill proposing an embargo on arms. Flood quoted the memorandum as a justification of his argument that the German government did not intend shipments of munitions to the Allies as illegal. It appears that the correspondence with the German government conducted by Ambassador von Bernstorff, developed as a consequence of a ruling by the United States that it was a violation of neutrality for merchant ships to take American ports for the express purpose of supplying belligerent warships.

German Complaints.
The ambassador's note said: "The position taken by the government of the United States as to the delivery of coal and other necessities to warships of the belligerent states, constituting a violation of neutrality, in the opinion of the Imperial German government, is untenable in international law. The Imperial government has set forth its position on this point in a memorandum which, in compliance with instructions, I have the honor to forward your excellency."

The memorandum further stated: "Under the general principles of international law, no exception can be taken to neutral states letting war material go to Germany's enemies from or through their territory. This is in accordance with article 7 of the Hague convention of October 18, 1907, concerning the rights and duties of neutrals in naval and land warfare. If, however, a state avails itself of that liberty in favor of her enemies, then it must, in accordance with a rule generally accepted in international law and confirmed in Article 2 of the two conventions abovesaid, place no obstacle to the German military forces ordering contraband from or through its territory. In spite thereof, various American port authorities have denied clearance from American ports to vessels of the merchant marine which would carry needed supplies or fuel to German warships either on the high seas or in other neutral ports. According to the principles of international law abovesaid, a neutral state need not prevent the adversaries to be furnished with contraband, either by sea or by land. It is the only way to prevent such a cargo. Only when contraband would turn the ports into bases of German military operations would the unilateral stoppage of the trade of those vessels become a duty.

"Such, perhaps, would be the case if the German navy used the ports or if the vessels called at the port in regular voyages on the way to German naval forces. But it stands to reason that one merchant vessel occasionally sailing with coal or supplies for German warships does not turn a neutral port into a German point of support contrary to neutrality.

"Our enemies draw from the United States contraband of war, especially arms worth several billions of marks. This, in itself, they are authorized to do. But if the United States would prevent our warships occasionally drawing supplies from its ports, a great injustice grows out of the authorization, for it would amount to an unequal treatment of the belligerents and constitute a breach of the generally accepted rules of neutrality to Germany's detriment."

American Answer.
The Secretary of State in his reply, held that:

"The essential idea of neutral territory becoming the base for naval operations by a belligerent is, in the opinion of this government, repeated departure from such territory of merchant vessels laden with fuel or other supplies to belligerent warships at sea; in order to ascertain the vessels which thus are operating. The government has been obliged to investigate certain cases in order that it might determine whether there have been, or are about to be, repetition of such acts, but in all respects equality of treatment has been observed toward all vessels suspected of carrying supplies to belligerent warships."

The correspondence shows the State department received also a complaint from the British ambassador, stating that the "systematic way in which neutral ships have left American ports in order to supply German warships and have been allowed to operate freely in the ports of the United States, in spite of the warnings which have been given in the matter, causes great anxiety to His Majesty's government."

Lansing replied that, so far as he was advised:

"Every suspicious case of a vessel leaving American ports to supply German warships which has been brought to the attention of the United States with any basis of fact to support some such statement, has been fairly investigated. The government of the United States, therefore, feels obliged to decline to accept any suggestion intimating that its vigilance in the maintenance of its neutral duties under international law has been relaxed."

On another occasion, the German ambassador, in complaining to the State department that the tug F. B. Daisel put to sea from New York to carry provisions to the British cruiser Essex, declared that the tug came out "under the searchlight of the United States Steamship Florida."

Mr. Lansing answered this with the statement that the government of the United States had investigated the matter thoroughly and was not able to find sufficient evidence to show that the tug did supply British warships. He asked for further evidence on which to renew the investigation, but this, it appears, was not supplied.

In this connection, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, gave the State department an extract from a letter written by the British command of the British ships along the American coast saying: "Except on one occasion in September last, which formed the basis of the complaint referred to in your telegram, I am satisfied that no attempt has been made to order any ships from the United States territory."

Arming Merchantmen.
A series of communications passed between the British embassy and the State department on defensive arming of merchantmen, and the right of belligerent merchant ships to leave neutral ports prepared to arm at sea. The British ambassador stated in command of the British ships along the American coast saying: "Except on one occasion in September last, which formed the basis of the complaint referred to in your telegram, I am satisfied that no attempt has been made to order any ships from the United States territory."

After the artillery had ceased firing, the Italians, according to the soldiers, permitted an interval of time to elapse sufficient for the Austrians to return to their trenches. Then they reopened the fire, which was literally filled with the bodies of dead Austrians.

"We are now solidly in possession of trenches and positions like Cima Fredda, the hinge of the formidable triangular defense of Tolmino, which the enemy seemed determined to hold at any cost," said an officer today.

"In the fierce struggle in the neighborhood of Gorizia, where the Austrians had concentrated large reinforcements, the Austrians were repulsed. As they retreated the Austrians set fire to a long tract of country, making a wall of fire to protect them from the pursuing Italians."

Was Not a Spy.

HEILIN, Oct. 28, by wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—Denial that Lieutenant Colonel Minnowsky, an interpreter of the staff of the Russian tenth army, who some time ago was hanged as a German spy, was never in fact a spy for Germany. As charged, is made by the official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. The newspaper, as quoted by the Overseas News Agency, refers to a new discussion regarding the case recently opened in the French and English press and asserts that "Lieutenant Colonel Minnowsky was innocent if he really was sentenced for spying in the German service; since neither he nor those associated with him ever gave information to Germany or Austria."

The newspaper adds that it would have been useless to make any declaration of the nature of the present one before the execution of the accused.

Serbian Report.

PARIS, Oct. 28, 11 p. m.—The Serbian legation tonight issued the following statement concerning the situation in Serbia:

"On the 28th, on the northeastern front, the Serbian troops on the right bank of the Morava river were obliged to fall back to the south, after heavy fighting, and have occupied the line of Syllavets-Grabovatsa-Chotanga. On the left bank of the Morava and the left bank of the Lepetava, there has been a violent artillery duel all along the front. Fighting is also going on along the line Vlas-Kladar."

"On the southern Morava front, the Serbian troops have repulsed the enemy on the left bank of the Zorbovitska Reka. There is nothing to report on the Nichava front."

"On the Kraljevska-Slonec, Serbian troops have relied on the position of Treestaba under strong pressure from the enemy. In the direction of Kojel Bouteche, the enemy attacked with strong columns and the fighting continued all day."

"The enemy attacked in the Zajecar region today. The fighting still continues there. In the Koutchoul region, the Russians by counter attacks, have recaptured the mouth of the Koutchoul Gorge."

"It will be seen that neither this statement nor the preceding one confirms the capture of Pluv, which was reported in dispatches from German sources."

Italian Report.

ROME, Oct. 28, via London, Oct. 28, 1:30 a. m.—The official statement from general headquarters of the Italian army dated October 28, says:

"The enemy made an attack, preceded by intense artillery and rifle fire, on the night of the 25th, on our positions at Valle Torra (Astico). It was repulsed with heavy losses."

"In the Monte Nero zone we accomplished further progress on the 27th, the Verdil storming strong trenches and taking 79 prisoners and one machine gun."

"In the Piava section our positions before Globna were on the same day attacked by strong forces of infantry, which were repulsed."

"On the Corno front during the night of the 25th-26th, our troops by throwing bombs and tubes filled with explosives took several trenches by assault. The enemy fled, abandoning arms and ammunition and one trench mortar."

"Full details have been now received showing that between October 21 and 27 on the Isonzo we captured 5,644 prisoners, 117 of whom were officers, and one howitzer, four trench mortars, twenty machine guns, 1,000 rifles and many cases of bombs and other war material. The machine guns and mortars were at once used by us against the enemy."

No Peace Discussion.

LONDON, Oct. 28, 4:08 p. m.—An emphatic denial that Great Britain was engaged in any peace negotiations, direct or indirect, was made by David Lloyd George, the Minister of Munitions, in reply to a question in the House of Commons today.

Lloyd George spoke for Premier Asquith when the question of whether Annan Bryce had given notice, came up. The query was as to whether unofficial exchanges of views had been carried on between Berlin and London with the possible object of the conclusion of an early peace and whether inquiries of a similar nature had been made by official representatives of any neutral power.

"Certainly not," was the reply of the minister of munitions.

"We shall not think of entering into any peace negotiations except in common with the allies, in accordance with the agreement made in September, 1914."

Danube Is Reopened.

AUSTRIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, via London, Oct. 28, 7:45 p. m.—The junction of the Austrian, German and Bulgarian troops and the occupation of the last Serbian positions on the Danube means the speedy re-opening of the river for traffic.

Numerous vessels are now engaged in removing the mines and other obstructions and communication between Hungary and Bulgaria and Turkey will begin forthwith, although travel by river will necessarily be slower than by the all-rail route through mid-Serbia. The entire re-establishment of traffic is expected within a few weeks.

American Claims.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—American importers having claims for the release of German and Austrian goods purchased prior to March 15 were requested today by the Foreign Trade Advisers to file before November 1 applications for permits to ship such goods now held at Rotterdam and valued at millions of dollars. While the British government has as failed to reply to the request of the foreign trade advisers for an extension to December 1 of the agreement, a reply is expected daily and the trade advisers' office is anxious to be prepared to submit all cases before the agreement expires on November 1.

Sir Richard Crawford, commercial attaché of the British embassy, informally notified Trade Adviser

ing today that while he was not authorized to extend the time for filing of applications, the British embassy would accept, after the expiration of the agreement, all applications which are in the trade advisers' hands prior to November 1.

Secretary Lansing indicated today that he has heard nothing to confirm reports that the German government contemplated an embargo on all exports from Germany.

English Summary.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(9:45 p. m.)—Outside of the German official statement, which records the advance of the Austro-German forces and the capture by the Bulgarians of Zajevar and Kraljevska, both on the Timok river northeast of Nish and the heights of Pluv, almost directly east of Nish, there is little or no authentic news of the progress of Serbia. However, the Serbians have recaptured Uskup, which is not improbable if, as Saloniki dispatches report, the French now hold the line of Krivokuk, Radovitsa and Strumitsa, for, with an army there and the Serbian army, Uskup would be a dangerous salient.

For the moment, the danger spot for the Serbians is the northeast corner, where they are being attacked from three sides and eventually must fall back toward the northwest. Thus far, they have been doing in good order, and despite the seriousness of the situation, optimism prevails in Serbian quarters in London, which probably are best able to judge of the assistance being sent by France, Great Britain and Russia.

The French, according to German dispatches already have landed 150,000 men with 100 guns at Saloniki. While the whereabouts of the British reinforcements remains a secret, they are of considerable size and are judged from the fact that although Sir Charles C. Moncrie, recently appointed to command the Gallipoli operations, already is on the spot, the government has decided to send Major-General Sir Bryan Mahon, who commanded the columns which relieved Mafeking in the South African war, to co-operate with the British.

Will Greece Do?
Greater anxiety exists as to the attitude of Greece. It is known that Austria, Germany and Bulgaria have complained of the continued hostility shown the Allies at Saloniki, and one account goes so far as to say that the Greek government has asked the Allies to leave Greek territory. Against this is the quoted assurance given by the Greek minister at Paris to the French government, that Greece has no intention of committing any hostile act toward the Allied troops.

Great around Dibra, where the Germans are renewing their efforts to reach the Dvina river, and near Chortorysk, on the Stry, there has been no heavy fighting in the Russian arena. Engagements of small scale have taken place west of the front, and the Germans are attacking in a new direction. Hitherto, the main attacks have been from the south and southwest of that city, where they were checked. On the Stry and in Galicia, the German offensive, according to the Russian report, has been stopped.

Looking for American.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In the belief that W. W. Colquhoun, a graduate of Columbia University, and son of James Colquhoun, a general superintendent of the Arizona Copper Company, has been captured by the Germans while serving with the British army in Flanders, his relatives and friends have appealed to United States consuls in Germany to try to find him if he is still alive.

Captain Colquhoun, who was visiting in England when the war began, enlisted in the Highland Light Infantry and early in July he was wounded in the right arm. A cable message received from his father by a former classmate reads:

"Captain Colquhoun fought in the battle of Isonz, September 23; reported missing, 24th; probably prisoner of war."

Colquhoun, who was a native of Clifton, Ariz., played for three years on the Columbia soccer team and was captain of it during the last year.

French Report.

PARIS, Oct. 28, 10:15 p. m.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight is as follows:

"Artillery actions particularly intense and prolonged are reported in Belgium on the Ilet Smeetsstruete front as well as in the north of Arras, in the zone of the Hache and in the region of Valenciennes."

"The enemy directed in Champagne a violent bombardment against our positions at Tahure and Maisons de Champagne. Our batteries replied by systematic fire on the enemy trenches."

"In the Vosges, one of our reconnoissances having discovered an enemy trench, which had been shattered by our cannonading, the Germans delivered a counter attack which was easily repulsed."

"There was a slight bombardment to the north of Dismade and a violent bombardment between the ferryman's house and Steenstraete."

WAR INCIDENTS

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Saloniki correspondent of the Petit Journal here learns from a reliable source that Bulgarians have mobilized 450,000 men of whom 100,000 are concentrated on the Yugoslav frontier and the rest on the Hungarian frontier, where impregnable defenses have been constructed.

PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 28.—The Russian emperor, accompanied by Crown Prince Alexis, was going to the southern front.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Prince Reginald de Croix authorizes the Daily Sketch to deny the German allegations of the existence of any organization to assist fugitives to escape from Belgium, of which he and Miss Edith Cavell, an alleged nurse there, have been charged. He said that for these being said an organization of some of the prisoners tried at Brussels did not know the others. He himself did not counsel soldiers to escape, but when he found that they were determined to escape, he assisted them, as did Miss Cavell, from humanitarian motives.

LONDON, Oct. 28, 10 p. m.—A dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Company from Petrograd says:

"The German atrocities museum was opened today at the Imperial Museum, a large number of photographs of mutilated soldiers, whose wounds are alleged to have been caused by explosive bullets and also

This commission also will have jurisdiction of banks and other institutions and will have power to recommend liquidation or bankruptcy proceedings when found necessary. This information is contained in a cablegram received from Mexico City by the local Constitutionalist council today.

The message adds that General Carranza shortly will issue a decree granting amnesty to all Mexicans, regardless of political affiliation or class except those implicated in the death of President Madero and Vice President Suarez and certain bandit leaders.

The order permitting coastwise shipping to be conducted free of taxation has been extended until next February.

Wounded Men Die.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 28.—Three Mexicans wounded in the fighting at Ojo del Agua, near Mission, Texas, last week, have died of their wounds at Reynosa, Mexico, according to a confidential war department adviser here today. This makes a total of four Mexicans killed in this battle. The American dead totaled three.

United States military aviators have any official reports indicate that the Carranza forces oppose this section of the border are patrolling the border presumably in an effort to co-operate with Americans in abating the operations of bandits.

Villa Governor Protests.

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 28.—Carlos Randall, Villa governor of Sonora, protested today against the transportation of Carranza troops through the United States from Laredo, Texas, to Douglas, Ariz., according to officials here. He telegraphed his objections to the State Department at Washington.

Governor Randall stated later that he had telegraphed Secretary Lansing that if the permit for the Carranza troops to cross the border were not revoked he feared he would be unable to guarantee the safety of American lives and property in Sonora.

He said he doubted his ability to control the Villa soldiers and Yaqui Indians who were angered at the news.

ROOSEVELT SUPPORTS SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

OSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter read at a rally in behalf of woman suffrage here tonight, declared his belief in the extension of suffrage to women and answered some of the arguments of those opposing it. The letter says in part:

"The opponents of woman suffrage say that it will take women away from home. If this were so, I should certainly not favor it. Just as if giving man the suffrage took him away from his business, I should not favor it, for making and keeping a home must always be the chief work for both man and woman. Whatever in this relation, nothing whatever is to be gained. Undoubtedly some foolish women may believe that giving the vote will excuse them from the performance of home duties, just as in every democratic extension of the suffrage, some foolish men have believed that gaining the vote somehow excuses them from living without working. But it is no more possible to have action on an argument of this kind in one case than in the other."

PRESBYTERIANS ASK REFORMS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Unanimous authorization for a petition to Congress to submit to the states a national prohibition amendment was voted today by the Presbyterian synod of Baltimore, in annual session here. Petitions also were approved asking for a federal censorship of moving picture films, a Sunday rest law in the District of Columbia, and a prohibition against the exportation from the United States of intoxicating liquors to Africa.

Each of the petitions, it was said, would be supported by a national movement of churches, to be initiated by the synod.

Tables of statistics of 5,000 cases of atrocities investigated by the special commission inquiry into German atrocities, by which the museum was established.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—George Baklanoff, the Russian ambassador, discussed with state department officials today the arrangement to have American surgeons and nurses care for German prisoners of war in Russia and the Russian prisoners in Germany. The mission to Russia already has arrived there but there has been some delay in completing the units for Germany.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Oct. 28.—The Echo Belga says that Count Joseph de Hemphine was executed at Ghent on October 20. He was a member of a prominent Catholic family.

"IN TONE AND ACTION A MUSICIAN'S PIANO"

Price $325

Moriz Rosenthal, concert pianist of world's fame and one of the greatest modern masters of technique, says of the Stroud—

"The Stroud Upright Piano has a clear, sound tone, a quick and correct action, and I feel astonished you can sell such a good instrument at such a comparatively low price."

For those persons of discriminating musical taste who for one reason or another cannot invest $500 or $600 in a pianoforte, the Stroud is the ideal instrument. Price is its one moderate feature.

ORPHEUM OPENS WEEK WITH "BIG TIME" ACTS

Blanche Leighton, of Kelso & Leighton, With Orpheum Show—At White Theater

"Big time" is the two words that describes the eight act Orpheum bill that opened last night at the White Theater and will be repeated tonight and Saturday and with matinees on Friday and Saturday afternoon. The press agents did not overstretch themselves in the advance notices for this week's show. It is out of ordinary—if such can be—and is the best show that the Orpheum has yet sent to Fresno.

With all due respect to the other numbers on the bill the best was left for the last and it was a good closing act for the well balanced bill.

The Navassar Girls are a condensed symphony orchestra who show the results of expert training. Otherwise the flawless unity of performance would not be there. Miss Angeline Dlat must be a wonderful leader. And of the aggregation, all of solo caliber, the cornetist is easily the star.

Their program closes with an effective rendition of "The April Fools," in which four of the girls, in red shirts, change the melody in a flashing and spitting of sparks that is highly dramatic. The audience is unwilling to leave the theater, and gives repeated curtain calls.

Little Lottie Horner, cute, girly and petite, was at her best in character songs. She looks like one of those fluffy fairies from an art cartoon. E. A. Rosebrook, the pianist, is talented and was a good partner for Miss Horner.

Shelton Brooks and Clarence Bowen, eccentric blackface comedians, have an excellent singing and talking act. Bowen has a fine tenor, while that is playing register and Brooks, author of several popular songs, has a quaintness to revive a long-ossified funny bone.

Plenty of comedy, but of a different kind from that of Brooks and Bowen, was given by a troupe of monkeys in "Night in a Monkey House." The monkeys give a complete vaudeville show, including acrobatic stunts and a musical program. Maude Roche, the trainer, does not appear on the stage.

FRESNO GIRL WINS FAVOR AT EMPIRE

Miss Nell Miller, a local girl, who made her debut in vaudeville on Wednesday evening at the Empire Theater, is finding great favor among her many admirers, who are attending the performance daily. At her initial appearance she was obliged to respond to many curbside calls, and several beautiful bouquets were handed up over the footlights and remembered from her many friends. They were all placed together, giving the appearance of one large bouquet. Miss Miller sings several songs, among which is a local baseball number, which is done very well. She concludes her act with an acrobatic dance and shows some very graceful work in this. The little girl displays an abundance of natural talent, and bids fair to become a successful artist.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW DECREASE FOR WEEK

Holiday Is Cause of Unusual Falling Off in Grand Total

EXTENSION OF 8-HOUR DAY WILL BE TOPIC

Boswell Says A. F. of L. Sessions Will Be Most Important Held

That the coming convention of the American Federation of Labor, which will open its annual session at San Francisco November 1, will be one of the most important in history, is the prediction of George W. Boswell, secretary of the Fresno Labor Council and delegate from that body to the big labor gathering. With the war on and industrial conditions generally disturbed, Boswell believes that some very important matters will come up for consideration.

"The extension of the 8-hour day to several of the largest international unions will be one of the most important considerations," Boswell said yesterday. "Every report from the East brings news that the machinists are organizing to get the 8-hour day in all departments of work. Their demands are met with practically no opposition and are generally being granted. Many of these machinists are engaged in making munitions of war. Membership in the International Machinists' Union has been increased at least 25 per cent since the first of the year."

Samuel Gompers will be a candidate for reelection to presidency of the federation. Local labor leaders have learned, Frank J. Hayes, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, is conceded to be the most dangerous opponent the president labor head will have. The sessions will open November 1 and close November 22.

Boswell will receive final instructions from the Fresno Labor Council at the regular meeting in Union hall tonight. He will leave for San Francisco next Thursday and will address the University Club and the Sociological Society of Stanford University the night of November 4 on "The Unemployed."

POST PLAYERS TO STAGE STARTLING DRAMA

Varne Layton As Edward Elmer in "The Girl From Out Yonder"—Theater Fresno

Following upon the heels of a pretty play, "The Girl From Out Yonder," now delighting Fresno audiences, the Post Players are to be seen in a big drama that will make every heart bound with excitement.

In establishing the popular stock company in Fresno, Mr. Post pursued his usual policy of producing plays without the slightest trace of the objectionable and has a wonderful success of every production, drawing his audience from the cultured and refined class of loyal devotees of the theater.

"The Confession of a Wife" is told in five big acts, embracing eight scenes, that are now being built by A. J. Hall and his assistants.

"The Girl From Out Yonder" plays to big houses.

The present attraction at the Theater Fresno is continuing to please by its simple beauty and marvelous force.

Miss Evelyn Hamble, as the pretty girl of the lone lighthouse, is exceedingly attractive and wins the hearts of her audience with every performance.

Varne Layton also shows great ability as Edward Elmer, young business man from New York.

Sunday's night show will be the last appearance of this pretty play.

of a London fashionable pension, and jumping abruptly into the midst of a turmoil in the heart of Africa's perilous jungle.

Both locations are hard to depict in pictures, but the fact that Lasky produced "The Explorer," which proved such a sensation at the Kinema last night and which is playing there today and tomorrow, is guarantee enough of perfection in atmosphere.

As for action, the story is full of it and it is well kept up by a well sustained story of the romance between Tellegen and Dorothy Davenport (the beautiful niece of Fanny Davenport) 102 Miles An Hour.

All world records for long distance races were broken during the late Astor automobile races, partly due to the improved types of cars used.

This wonderful track is well shown in the pictures and one can get a good idea of just how these cars are able to speed at this terrific pace, half the time tilted at a right angle.

Surprising Solution To Elaine Series

Many were the surprised ones when the actual solution of the several Elaine series were flashed on the screen last night, for many had been the conjectures and opinions offered as to just how the whole riddle might be solved.

It is a pleasing ending and a most satisfactory one to what has proven an interesting melodramatic problem.

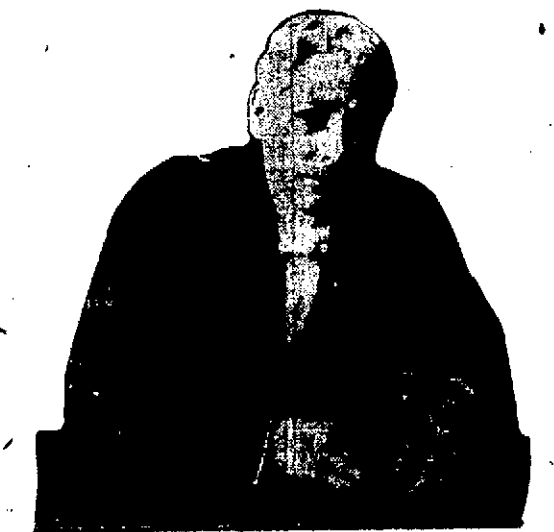

Another topic of great interest is the first game between the Phillies and Red Sox, played in Philadelphia, of which excellent views are shown. Two comedies complete the bill.

RUESS TO BE PASTOR OF HANFORD CHURCH

Unitarian Minister Will Have Charge Made Vacant by Clayton

The Rev. Christopher Rueess, pastor of the First Unitarian church of Fresno, will take charge of the Unitarian church of Hanford after November 1. The Rev. Rueess will hold one meeting each week in Hanford in addition to the regular meetings in Fresno. He will succeed the Rev. Thomas Clayton, who will leave soon to become pastor of the First Unitarian church of Houston, Texas. Clayton has been pastor of the Hanford church the last three years and for the last year has been secretary of the Fresno Relief Society. Members of the Fresno Relief Society will meet in the office of William Glass at 1 o'clock next Monday. Plans for the winter work and for filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Clayton will be considered. T. T. Clifton will be secretary of the society temporarily.

EXCURSIONISTS ARE ENTERTAINED IN TWO COUNTIES

Eastern Farmers Tour Merced; Visit Sweet Potato Plant

Boards of Trade of Denair and Turlock Show Party Irrigation District

MERCED, Oct. 28.—The 147 farmer-excurSIONISTS from the East arrived at 8 o'clock this morning on the Santa Fe special from Fresno and were taken through the agricultural environs of Merced in forty automobiles assembled by the chamber of commerce. The visitors were given a satisfying insight into the general character and diverse output of farm products, alfalfa and dairymen's farms, fruit orchards, vineyards and grain fields being included in the list of sights seen on the trip. At noon the farmers witnessed a demonstration run of the canneries at Merced, where they were shown the various processes of canning and were afterward served to them at luncheon. At 12:30 the party was taken to Winston station, where connection with the train was made and the visitors proceeded north. The committee in charge of the arrangements included John R. Graham, chairman; Corwin Radcliffe, H. C. Landrum, A. L. Powell and J. C. Hartman.

See Turlock District. The excursionists on the Santa Fe farmers' special train, 147 in number, received a royal welcome at the hands of the people of the people of the Turlock irrigation district today. Early this morning, a reception committee composed of A. A. Caldwell, of the Turlock Board of Trade, F. E. Robertson of the Denair Board of Trade, and E. F. Sawdy of the Hugheson Board of Trade went to Merced and met the visitors, accompanying them north when the train left Winston at 1 o'clock. There the visitors were met by about fifty citizens of the Turlock district with automobiles and were given a twelve-mile ride over a portion of the district. The route taken was from Denair west to East Main street, Turlock, thence through the city to North Broadway, thence to the Keyes road, thence to the Hugheson boulevard, thence to Hugheson, where the excursionists boarded their train at 2 o'clock and left for Stockton, the next stopping place.

The visitors were emphatic in expressions of praise for the general appearance of agricultural prosperity in the portion of the Turlock district traversed by them. It is the plan of the three boards of trade in the district to keep in touch with them and supply them from time to time with information respecting the resources and development of this section.

PLAN TELEPHONE WORK AT DINUBA

Poles and Lines to Be Removed From Main Street to Alleys; Packing Plants Busy on Emporers

DINUBA, Oct. 28.—The construction crew of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company will be here within the next few days to commence the removal of poles from the main street to the alleys in accordance with the agreement reached between the company and the city when the franchise was granted recently. The telephone company had been operating here without a franchise until three months ago, and the removal of the poles was one of the conditions imposed when the present franchise was granted for twenty-five years.

At the time of the granting of the franchise an effort was made to have the company install the flash or other common battery system in use in other towns. Representatives of the company made objection that it was not feasible on account of the large number of 'phones served on farmer lines. There are 358 farmer 'phones, and only 273 'phones on the exchange. A change of this nature would necessitate the maintenance of two switchboards. The question was allowed to drop in the granting of the franchise, but the matter was revived when a communication was received from the railroad commission relative to the satisfaction of the service given. No further action has been taken, and it is probable that the change will not be required.

The Pioneer Fruit company commenced packing Emporers today at their plant at Smyrna. Today the pack was in crates, but drums will be packed out on all the good grapes in the district.

The Fresno Fruit Growers' company has packed a car of drums for which they received $2.50 for a thirty-pound drum, which is the highest price reported from the district this year.

BRIEF MARICOPA NEWS JOTTINGS

MARICOPA, Oct. 28.—E. H. McIntyre returned Sunday from a trip to the San Francisco exposition, where he spent a week seeing the display of world wonders.

McIntyre and wife of Santa Maria, and Chas. James passed through Maricopa Monday on their way to the Jamez properties in this county. Incidentally they visited a short time in the water cure, who formerly knew them in San Francisco where she is spending a couple of weeks visiting friends and seeing the sights of the big fair.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—John R. Owen, recently ousted from the office of deputy city collector in charge of water rates, was indicted today on a charge of embezzling $2700 of the funds of the water office. The grand jury is investigating the water rates collections for the last six years.

Congressman Church to Give Address at Liberty Bell Fiesta

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 28.—Congressman Denver S. Church of Fresno has accepted the invitation of Porterville people to deliver the patriotic address here in connection with the celebration of Liberty Bell, November 11. Practically every school in southern Tulare county will have a holiday on the afternoon of that day to allow the children to see the relief. Plans for the parade of the children, in which it is expected that at least 3000, will take part, indicate that this will be one of the finest things of the kind ever attempted in the San Joaquin Valley.

MILITIAMEN TO ATTEND PRACTICE

HANFORD, Oct. 28.—On Saturday, October 30, selected marksmen from Company M, N. G. C., will go to San Francisco and from there to Manzanita, where they will attend the annual target shoot. Every company of state guards will take part in the event, which will last through the week.

CALL FOR BIDS FOR VISALIA AUDITORIUM

Three Fresno Firms Will Compete; Lively Competition Promised

VISALIA, Oct. 28.—With the plans for Visalia new auditorium ready and in the hands of the city trustees, bids for the construction of the new building have been called for by the board. The bids were received and opened at 5 o'clock on the night of November 17. It is explained that there will be any number of bidders for the work, and it is definitely known that at least three Fresno contracting firms will be ready to submit their bids by that time. The plans are now with the city engineer, who has already been requested to submit copies of the specifications and a lively competition is expected.

SANITARY STANDARD IS FIXED FOR MILK

Los Angeles Health Department Puts Requirements on Dairies

TULARE, Oct. 28.—All San Joaquin dairies supplying milk and cream to Los Angeles must make a score of 55 points as a result of the recent visit of Los Angeles health authorities to the valley, according to an announcement made here by Dr. C. J. Bevan, inspector in the San Joaquin Valley for the Los Angeles health department. The score blanks to be used are copied from the government blanks, and cover the location, condition, construction and care of stables and milking houses; the construction, condition and care of milk utensils; and the methods of cooling and handling the milk. The sanitary condition of the cows and dairies inspected by the Los Angeles authorities was very satisfactory. Dr. Bevan stated. The officials were very much interested in the many modern dairies of this vicinity.

SORGHUM MAKING IS WOODLAKE INDUSTRY

Demand for Home Product Being Supplied by Valley Concern

WOODLAKE, Oct. 28.—D. L. Wray & Company have started an industry in Woodlake which promises success for another California product in the manufacture of a valley brand of sorghum, known as the "Lake Brand." Until a year ago no pretense was made to supply the home demand with California made sorghum, fully 30 percent of the product being shipped from the old south. Last year the Woodlake firm began to supply the demand and manufactured 2,000 gallons, made from cane grown from imported seed. The cane was grown on sub-irrigated land in the Woodlake section. The result was quick growing plants, filled with saccharine, so much so that the equipment had to be changed in the equipment to manufacture the sorghum, from that used in the old south, due to the fact that the syrup became of the proper consistency without so much boiling. The result produced a mild sorghum which instantly found a demand and the supply was soon exhausted.

This year the firm trebled the acreage, enlarged and improved the mills and methods of manufacture, and are producing a superior product. In the last year the demand has increased until the product is being taken by merchants of the San Joaquin valley as fast as it comes from the factory.

Sorghum cannot be classed with the ordinary syrup found on the market. Most of the syrups are the by-products of sugar factories, or are a mixture of some sort, while sorghum is the pure juice of sugar cane, reduced by boiling to the consistency of syrup. Nothing is added and nothing is evaporated. It is therefore absolutely pure, as sweet as nectar and has a pleasing flavor that lasts.

BRIEF CORCORAN NEWS JOTTINGS

CORCORAN, Oct. 28.—H. B. Cochran is buying his residence on Lettis avenue wired for electric lights. Elmer Macy, a former student at the high school, made the school a visit yesterday afternoon.

The street commissioner, F. Partridge, has called Whittier avenue. The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church met at the Manne yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Jarvis and Mrs. Frank Schattgen as hostesses. At the business session of the meeting committees were appointed to arrange for and conduct the children's picnic to be given at the manne in two weeks, on November 10, instead of 17, as had been previously arranged. Mrs. Carl L. Anderson and Mrs. F. E. Mathers were received as members of the society. The hostesses took charge and served the company with light refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Evans and son left for their home in Orange county Sunday. They had been the guests of H. B. Cochran and family for the past week.

EXPECT INFUX OF UNEMPLOYED. VISALIA, Oct. 28.—Visalia has done nothing as yet looking to the care of the unemployed who will flock into Tulare county by the hundreds during the winter months, beginning with the opening of the orange picking season. Visalia directly will not be as hard hit by this problem as will cities on the east side, as the itinerants always seek employment in the orange groves. However, last year there were many unemployed in this city, perhaps 20 percent of the number that visited the city of the east side, and it was remarked last year that active work would be done this year looking to their care. The Visalia Associated Charities is expected to take some action in the matter. Porterville has already taken direct action looking to the care of the unemployed who reach there. Last year Porterville had over 500 camped within the city.

HIGHWAY UNIT IS NEARLY FINISHED

HANFORD, Oct. 28.—Work on Klamath county's permanent highway is progressing nicely and before many weeks the first unit will be thrown open to the traffic. The grade from Hanford to Visalia's corner is complete and ready for rock. The next unit to be graded is the one from Hanford to LeMore. A few of the concrete bridges are already in and many iron culverts are being placed.

LODGE TO RECEIVE OFFICERS. HANFORD, Oct. 28.—McPherson Women's Relief Corps are making preparations to receive Department President Clara C. Highland, who will address and inspect the corps Saturday evening, October 30, in Masonic hall.

WILL RENEW FIGHT ON HETCH HETCHY

Irrigation Districts Are to Oppose Development of Water Supply

MODESTO, Oct. 28.—The board of directors of the Modesto Irrigation District is opposed to development of the Hetch Hetchy water system as a source of municipal supply, this opposition being expressed in a resolution passed yesterday afternoon protesting an offer to sell by the San Francisco supervisors of a $10,000,000 bond issue to finance the construction of this system. The protest is based on assertion that such development is contrary to the understanding between the San Francisco irrigation representatives at Washington two years ago, by which was withdrawn the district's opposition to passage of the Baker bill by Congress granting San Francisco reservoir rights on the head waters of the Tuolumne river in the Yosemite National Forest. The protest is a renewal of the fight by the Turlock and Modesto districts against San Francisco's taking water from the Tuolumne on the ground that such action will endanger the supply of the districts and is contrary to their water rights.

Turlock Also Acts

TURLOCK, Oct. 28.—The board of directors of the Turlock irrigation district held a special meeting today and adopted resolutions protesting against an offer to sell by the city of San Francisco of $10,000,000 of bonds, the proceeds of which are presumably to be used for the immediate development of the Hetch Hetchy water supply in San Francisco. The resolutions pointed out that San Francisco had violated an agreement had between representatives of San Francisco and the Turlock and Modesto irrigation districts when the Baker Hetch Hetchy bill was passed by Congress. The resolutions also pointed out that the city of San Francisco, together with the chief engineer, to formulate a protest and forward same to the San Francisco city officials.

SWEET POTATO CROP IS BEING HARVESTED

Growers at Livingston and Atwater to Hold Yield for Higher Prices

MERCED, Oct. 28.—The harvesting of the sweet potato crop around Atwater and Livingston is well under way, and most of the growers are preparing to store the crops in cellars until the market price reaches a better figure than this present quotations. By holding the crops, the growers expect to obtain eventually from 25 to 50 cents per hundred-weight more than present prices.

A big season is planned to sweets in this county this year, and the yield is moderately heavy. The crops generally run to fancy sizes this year, and Merced county growers are said to obtain from 10 to 15 cents per hundred-weight more than the Atwater and Livingston sweets run smoother and better in quality than the average produced on different soil.

The wine grape season in this county will conclude in another week. There the last shipments will be made. There are still a few days more to finish them also. Ward McInture finished his pack of malagass for Eastern shipment this week.

COALINGA HAPPENINGS

COALINGA, Oct. 28.—In the court of Justice Kerr the case against Henry Caswell for disturbing the peace came up this morning. The complaint was filed by the Western Union Telegraph company. The case went before a jury, and a verdict for defendant.

POWER RATE HEARING WILL BE IN VISALIA

Final Session Regarding Mt. Whitney Case Is Set for Nov. 18

TULARE, Oct. 28.—The complainants in power rate cases against the Mount Whitney Power and Electric Company have been notified that the final hearing of the cases will be held in the Superior court room at Visalia, November 18. The hearing was first set for October 28, at Visalia, and later was changed to November 18 at San Francisco. A protest against holding the hearing in San Francisco was made by the power consumers, including the cities of the county, and the hearing will close the investigation of power rates by the railroad commission, brought about by the application of the Mount Whitney Power and Electric company for an adjustment of all its rates, and by the complaint of J. P. Melcher and others of Kern county, and the complaint of A. C. Rosenthal and others of Tulare county. Taken jointly, these are the most extensive power rate cases that have ever come before the railroad commission.

RAYMOND QUARRYMEN VOTE TO REMAIN OUT

Are Part of State-Wide Strike Inaugurated Early in Summer

MADERA, Oct. 28.—At a recent meeting of the striking quarrymen in Madera a vote was taken on whether to return to work. The result was 40 for to 40 against resuming their places. The Madera quarrymen are mostly employed at McGilvray Bros. quarry and are part of the state-wide strike inaugurated early in the summer for a higher rate of wages. About 100 men were involved when the strike was called. Others were called out at Sacramento, Los Angeles, and other parts of the state.

He returned immediately to Bakersfield, and has been practicing law ever since, which was committed from the Kern County Bar Association has charge of Emmons' defense.

PIONEER WOMAN IS DEAD AT COALINGA

Was Wife of Rev. J. H. Neal, Who Preached First Sermon Here

COALINGA, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Sarah Ann Neal, wife of Rev. J. H. Neal of Coalinga, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Damon to this city yesterday. She was native of London, England, and came to California from Kentucky in 1857. On September 1 of that year she was married to Rev. J. H. Neal. They were born ten children, seven of whom are living, as follows: Mrs. Vinde Martin-Rollins; Mrs. Francis E. Rogers; Mrs. Lella Booher, Mountain View; Mrs. Geo. J. Martin, San Francisco; Mrs. A. A. Neal, San Francisco. There were born to these children, twenty-seven children, twenty-three of whom are living, and eighteen grand-children.

Rev. J. H. Neal preached the first sermon in the town of Fresno, when it had only 100 inhabitants. Seventy-five were present at the service. His ministry has been mostly in the valley. The first pastorate was at Chico, then at Hamilton, Snelling, La Grange, Millerton, Visalia, Tulare, Madera. Mrs. Neal was a faithful pastor's wife, working with her husband in all his appointments. Interment will take place at Mountain View cemetery. The services were conducted today in Coalinga by Rev. H. J. Roberts, pastor of the Baptist church.

LOS BANOS NOTES

Elmer Wiley, of the Twelfth infantry, company K, of Nogales, Ariz., was discharged from duty last week and is home on a visit to his mother, Mrs. E. C. Wiley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Olson and daughter, Miss Ellen, and Mrs. M. A. Kayes, motored to San Jose and returned Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Gardner of Hollister, spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Wason and family. Last Saturday they accompanied her to Hollister and spent a few days.

Many of Los Banos people took advantage of the holiday Tuesday and spent the time quail or duck hunting. Most of the business houses did not observe the day.

Robert Conlan, also known as Neil Donald, was found dead October 26 in his yard at the rear of Albert Olson's saloon. The body was discovered about 3 o'clock and had laid for two hours directly opposite the polling place of Precinct No. 1, which was located in the saloon. The coroner brought in the verdict that the deceased came to his death from unknown causes. Witnesses testified on the stand that the deceased was under the influence of liquor and had drunk a third of a bottle of alcohol just prior to his death.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Electric sparks which ignited a can of varnish started a fire today which in twenty minutes destroyed the interior of a factory building and caused a loss estimated at $60,000. One of the twenty employees of the United States Electrical Manufacturing Company was slightly burned and injured while escaping from the building. Occupants of a nearby hotel abandoned their apartments, but the flames were controlled before they reached any other structure.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The officers of the Serbian relief fund here say that there are several hundred British and American workers in the zone in Serbia, which is now in the hands of the Germans. A reassuring message has been received as to their safety. Both the Germans and the Bulgarians are said to have given their promises for the good treatment of the workers.

SELMA TOURNAMENT ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS

City Thronged at Opening Concert of Three-Day Festival

Program of Sports and Many Other Attractions Arranged for Today

SELMA, Oct. 28.—A large attendance at the benefit concert given by the Women's Improvement Club at the Selma opera house this evening gave an enthusiastic send-off to Selma's Game Tournament, which opened this evening and continues until Saturday night. When Selma decorates in the night, the Selma Club has taken charge of the town, everyone knows that nothing will be left undone to assure success of the undertaking, and this celebration promises to be no exception to the rule.

Among the exhibits of the agricultural products of this section—the flower show, the commercial exhibits, the floral arts display, the needlework and fancy work exhibit, and showing of culinary products are practically all completed, and when they are opened to the public tomorrow night, will be the most complete showing of this nature ever made in Selma. No admission is being charged to any of these features and it is a fine example of the Selma spirit to note that the greater portion of the entries have been made even without being entered for prizes.

Under the direction of C. W. Chauncey, there is a fine showing of Chamber of Commerce products most unusual for this season of the year.

The floral exhibit will continue through tomorrow night, but Friday will be the big day in this section because of the showing of cut flowers which will be entered tomorrow morning. The exhibit is rich in rare specimens of potted plants gathered from many greenhouses, and is marked by many rare specimens of unusual plants from foreign countries furnished largely by John Frichs and C. J. A. Peterson. H. H. Borchers has also entered a big collection of ferns, and C. W. Chauncey and T. H. Elliott are also heavy contributors.

Labby, McNell & Libby, who took the highest honors for canned products at the recent fair in Fresno, have enlarged that exhibit and are showing a display almost double that shown there. Other Selma commercial enterprises making displays are Kutner's, Bachtel's, Flouring Mills, and the Pittman Cement Company.

To all the above entertainment features, the afternoon will be filled with a big program of sports commencing at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, with livestock parade in which the best stock in this section is to be shown under the direction of Frank S. Gilroy. This parade will be led by the Boys' Band of the Selma grammar schools. Immediately following the parade, there will be a Wild West performance in which the best stock in this section is to be shown under the direction of Frank S. Gilroy.

At the conclusion of this show, the wheelbarrow race, in which the city trustees are giving prizes for honors, will take place. It has been decided that one wheelbarrow race is not enough, and Frank Howard has arranged for an additional wheelbarrow event in which empty wheelbarrows will be used, and in which one of the points of the contest will be to make a trip, load and return. This promises much amusement.

At 4:30 p. m. John Rorden will turn loose the fattest, slickest pig imaginable to be the object of a merry chase.

At the conclusion of this event there will be a mail-driving contest for the ladies under the direction of H. A. Hensen, with the prize a big feather box, which will tempt them to ignore bruised fingers in their zeal to win.

Exhibition Fire Rectorial features of the evening will be the exhibition run by the Selma fire department to take place at some time between 7 and 8 o'clock. A house has been constructed on South Tucker avenue, near Third street, and filled with highly inflammable material, and will be fired at some time after 7 o'clock. The department will not be allowed to make more than ordinary preparations for the alarm, and will not be permitted to respond until the fire has gained big headway and a regular alarm is sounded. The route for the run calls for some very sharp turns on some narrow streets and also necessitates the laying of long lines of hose, thus putting lots of extra excitement into this event.

Program of Sports. A series of basketball games are to conclude the evening at the pavilion. The first game is to be a girls' game between teams titled the "Haw-Bears" and the "World-Bears," and to represent the annual classes of the high school and the continuation of the game is to be between two all-star teams of boys, one from Fresno, the other from Reedley. The Selma band will furnish music during the games.

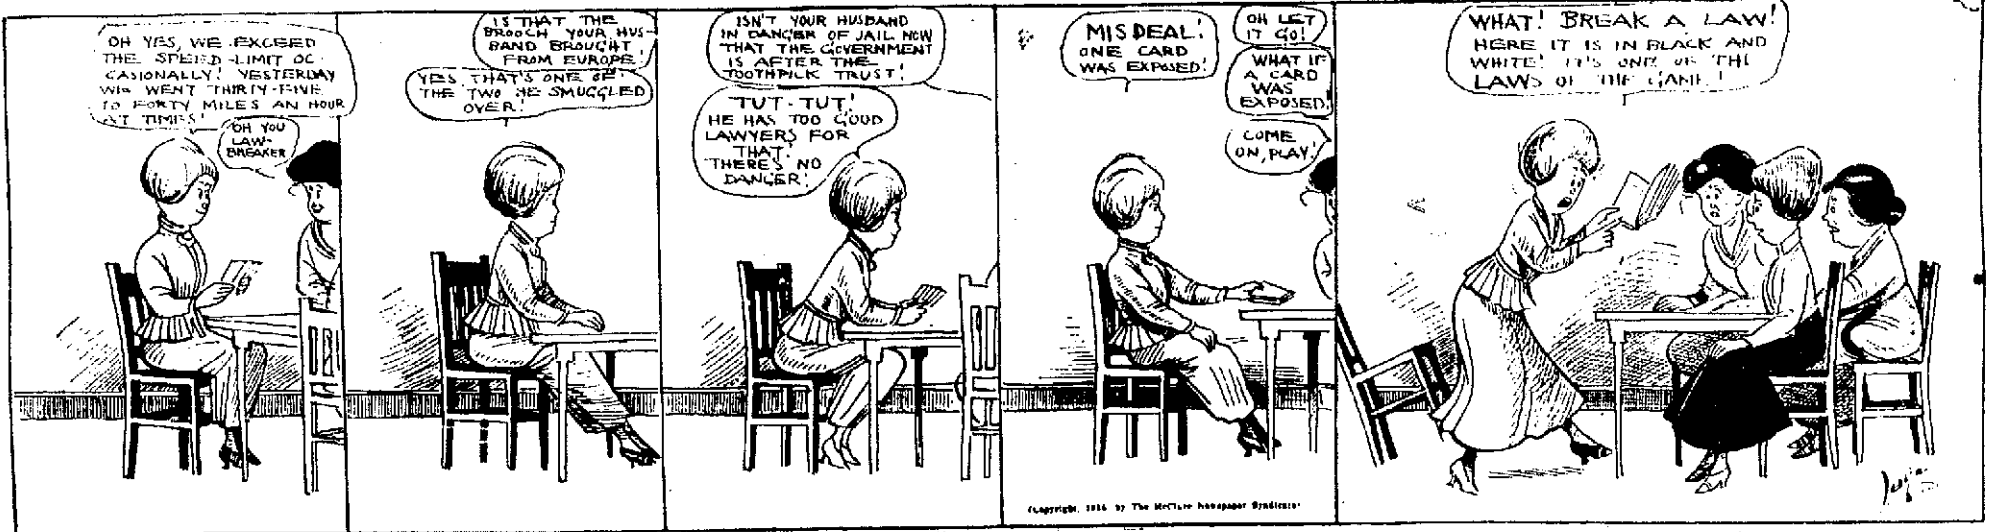

Saturday morning, sports will commence at 10 o'clock with a doll parade of school children in which the prize awards are for decorated bicycles, tricycles, express wagons, doll buggies, and dogcarts. Dolls and pet animals are to be carried by all of the children participants.

Boosters Will Meet All Stars at Coalinga In Game Sunday

Manager Fred Watters is relying upon the pitching of Oscar Jones, one-time big league veteran and baseball star, to win for Schmitt's Boosters the title of champions of Fresno county. According to a schedule arranged with Manager Don Haggerty of the Coalinga All Stars, three games are to be played with the county championship at stake. The opening contest will be at Coalinga next Sunday, October 31, the second game at Fresno the following Sunday and a third game at Coalinga a week later.

Watters yesterday announced he would rely upon the lineup that won the Fresno City baseball championship for 1915 from the Demers in his try for the county leadership.

The lineup Sunday will be: Nelson, Jones, p.; Curt, 1b; Glavin, 2b; Preston, 3b; Klein, ss.; Miller, cf.; Adams, c.; Robles, rf.; Watters and Henry, utility.

SCIENTISTS OF PAN-AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Acceptance already received at the State Department, indicate that the largest body of representatives of the American republics ever gathered in the United States will attend the second Pan-American Scientific Congress, which meets here December 27.

Secretary Lansing said today there would be between 100 and 150 delegates from all of the South and Central American nations. Scientific organizations and educational institutions of the United States are expected to send some 600 representatives.

secret service, or the German government.

Detainees were busy in Weehawken and Hoboken, N. J., gathering explosives and other material to have been used by Fay and Schulz, his brother-in-law, in experimenting with bombs, which, according to Fay's confession, were to be placed on rudders or propellers of ships, so timed that they would explode after the vessel left New York. The material gathered at Fay's room in Weehawken and at a farmhouse in the Hudson where Fay experimented, consisted of 400 pounds of chlorate of potash, 300 pounds of dynamite and several suitcases of percussion caps. The explosives were deposited with the fire department for safe keeping.

Breitling, cousin of J. N. Breitling, a mining man and shipowner, was the only one of the five alleged conspirators who obtained liberty on bond. He appeared before a United States commissioner today and furnished $25,000 bond for his hearing on November 4. Breitling, Kinszle and Daecle are charged in the complaint with having furthered the conspiracy in aiding Fay to obtain explosives for bombs.

TO DIRECT RAILWAY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 27.—It was reported here today that B. A. Worthington, former president of the Chicago and Alton railroad, will become president of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railroad as soon as that system is turned over to the re-organization committee now representing the bondholders. The C. I. and W. was sold under an order of the federal court in this city last month for $3,500,000.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 27.—A distinguished community of Catholic clergy and laymen gathered here today to participate in the ceremonies incident to the consecration of Father A. J. Shuler of Denver tomorrow as bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of El Paso, Texas. Archbishop J. B. Pitlor of Santa Fe, N. M., will officiate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The San Francisco club, winners of the Pacific Coast league championship, won the first game of a seven game post season series today by defeating Oscar Vitt's all-stars, 8 to 7.

All stars included a number of major league players and the Seals drove Joe Oeschger of the Philadelphia Nationals, out of the box in two innings and stole seven bases. Eddie Burns, who caught every game for the Philadelphia Nationals in the recent world series. Score: R. H. E. All Stars..... 7 14 2 San Francisco..... 8 12 0 Batteries: Oeschger; Kilwiler; Prough and Burns; Stern, Brown and Sepulveda.

NEW TRADE LAWS ARE CONSIDERED

Especially in View of Conditions to Follow War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Legislation to aid American merchants in factoring advantage of trade opportunities developing from the European war and to protect home industry against foreign competition upon the restoration of peace was considered today by President Wilson in conference with the Secretary of Commerce and the department of commerce and Chairman Davies of the federal trade commission.

As a result of the conference, the secretary of commerce will recommend to Congress the enactment of a law making selling by foreign firms at less than the cost of production here "unfair competition," punishable under the anti-trust laws. A similar recommendation will be made by the federal trade commission in its annual report to Congress, which also is expected to propose an amendment to the Clayton anti-trust law to legalize combinations for the operation of co-operative selling agencies abroad.

Both of these subjects have been exhaustively investigated by the department of commerce and by the federal trade commission.

It is probable that they will be dealt with by the President in his opening message to Congress. The federal trade commission has held numerous hearings throughout the country to develop information as to the need of co-operative selling agencies, and while no report has yet been made, it is understood that the commission is practically unanimous in favoring an amendment to permit their establishment.

In considering proposals for legislation to prevent foreign manufacturers from flooding the American markets with products at prices below the cost of production at the close of the European war, officials have rejected plans calling for tariff law amendments.

Secretary Redfield made it apparent that the bureau of the anti-trust act.

SECOND WIFE SUES HIM FOR $250,000

New Haven Manufacturer's Matrimonial Tangle Still in Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Virginia St. Julien Mayo, a New Haven manufacturer, who was brought into prominence last March, following the suicide of his stepson, Miss Juliette Cook, by the revelation that he had been leading a double life, was sued today in the Supreme Court by his New Haven wife, Mrs. Wilhelmina Mayo, for $250,000. She charges fraud, accusing Mayo of inducing her to marry him, under the pretext that he was a single man, whereas he had a wife living at the time.

Mrs. Mayo does not ask an annulment of her marriage, but if the suit is decided in her favor, her attorney, Ralph Gillette, maintains the action will have the effect of annulling her marriage.

The suit is based on a successful suit for divorce waged in Scranton, Pa., last June by Mrs. Florence W. Mayo.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Heron Munon von Schwarzenstein of the foreign office, speaking today of the arrest in New Jersey of Robert Fay, said that no such person as Fay is known at the foreign office; that the foreign office maintains no secret service department.

SIX HUNDRED ALUMNI WILL CELEBRATE RETURN TO AMERICAN GAME

California University Men Will Have Big Banquet Day Before Contest With Washington

California Alumni, 600 strong, will celebrate the return to Berkeley of American football at a monster alumni dinner to be held at the Commercial Club, San Francisco, November 5, the day before the game with the University of Washington. Because of the unusual athletic situation at the State University the alumni, young and old, have taken more interest in football this year than ever before.

This committee consists of Prof. A. H. Kidd, "Little" Mink, freshman coach this year, and Panham Griffiths. Already a lot of the old store of the California gridiron have said they would be there. More are answering every day. Among those who will tell of the football spirit of the before rugby era are Percy Hall, Orville Overall, Shook Corb, "Brick" Morse, Harry Hudson, Fred Athearn, Joe Condotti, "Captain" Kidd, Mink and others.

"Spectators are going to be limited to one minute each. And the principal speakers of the evening are Presidents Suzzallo of Washington, and Wheeler of California. Suzzallo was in Stanford when they played the Yankee game on the farm, and he is told to have little sympathy with the English mode of play in American universities.

Regent Charles Stetson Wheeler.

He has been chosen as toastmaster and he will preside at the celebration. The membership of the boosters committee is as follows: L. J. K. L. Mini, '03; L. J. Muma, '06; P. N. Gray, '09; Arthur H. Ashley, '37; J. A. Stroud, '13; Dave Babcock, '10; H. H. Pileger, '12; A. H. Kidd, '08; L. A. Myers, '13; J. U. Callins, '11; Fred Athearn, '09; Clinton Morse, '06; J. K.

BEGIN CALLING IN ANGLO-FRENCH LOAN

Fifteen Per Cent to Be Paid in by Banks by November 15

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The first call for funds available from the Anglo-French $500,000,000 credit loan was made today by Basil B. Blackett, secretary of the Anglo-French commission, and Octave Homberg, one of the French members who remained in this country to adjust matters in connection with the loan. Lord Reading, chairman of the commission and the other two British members sailed October 6 and have reached Great Britain.

The call requests banks throughout the country where the funds have been deposited to remit by November 15, fifteen per cent on the proceeds to the National City Bank here, the institution designated as the depository of the proceeds as called for. Letters to this effect went out today bearing the signatures of Messrs. Blackett and Homberg, and others will go forward to other banks tomorrow and Saturday.

It is expected that the call will place at the disposal of the British and French governments between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000—fifteen per cent of the amount paid in by November 15. This will be placed in the National City Bank to the credit of the "British and French Government Central Joint Account." The sum will be checked out by Messrs. Blackett and Homberg as needed, and when exhausted, another call will be made.

In no case, however, will Messrs. Blackett and Homberg make their drafts payable to the exporters of supplies. The funds will be placed, by these two representatives of the governments concerned, at the disposal of British and French fiscal agents in America wherever needed. The call therefore is the first step in the distribution of the $450,000,000 received by Great Britain and France for their bonds, among the varied interests of the United States sending supplies to these two nations.

About $200,000,000 of the $500,000,000 bond issue, it was authoritatively stated today, has been withdrawn from public subscription by the banks and financial houses who are members of the underwriting syndicate. These will be retained by the banks as investments, according to present plans, leaving available for public purchase about $300,000,000 of the issue. It was said today that this was fast being taken.

Blackett expects to remain in this country for several weeks longer. He is to be succeeded in his duties with the loan by Sir Paul Harvey, K. C. M. G. C. B., who was sent here by the British government to relieve him. Paul reached New York today on the steamer Adriatic.

RACING MAN DIES. HATFIELD, N. H., Oct. 28.—George J. Turner, secretary of the Dover Driving Club and a member of the racing committee of the National Trotting Association, died at his home here today after a long illness. He was born in Elba, N. Y., and was 55 years of age.

Guerna Is Named Coach For Stanford Crew

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 28.—Frank L. Guerna has been engaged as coach for the Stanford crew for the coming year. It was announced today by the executive committee. Guerna has coached the crew during the last two years.

Hannah and Williams Win in Tournament

Floyd Williams and H. H. Hannah won the Y. M. C. A. handicap tournament last night when they defeated the two other contending teams in the finals.

The winners took a hard and fast game from P. Fleming and Leon Beck, 21-19, 12-21 and 21-19. In the second game they won from Fred Gullman and Harry Hills, 6-21 and 17-21.

The teams were selected by drawing lots for teammates, so that it is claimed that the winning of the tournament does not signify that the winners would represent the strongest team the Y. M. C. A. could put forth.

Nelly, the Great, Sets New Trotting Record

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Nelly the Great, a two-year-old trotting filly, made a new world's record for a half mile track, here today, when at a brokers' meeting, she stepped a mile in 2:15 3/4. She is owned by Dr. W. A. Barber of this city.

The former record was 2:16 1-2, held by Nowaday Girl.

NEW CHINESE MINISTER IS FRIEND OF YUAN

Is Also Said to Be Supporter of Principle of Monarchy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The United States government has been officially advised of the intention of China to send Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo to Washington as minister in place of Kai Fu Shih, who is being recalled. Today's announcement from Peking followed receipt of word there through American Minister Beuchamp that the American government would be pleased to receive Dr. Koo.

The change in ministers is considered of much significance. Dr. Koo is a protégé of President Yuan Shi Kai, and for years was his private secretary and interpreter. Since the resignation of Sun Yat Sen from the portfolio of foreign affairs, it has been generally understood that his friend, Kai Fu Shih, the present minister here, also would resign. There have been intimations, too, that the latter would be recalled, because it was alleged, he did not furnish comprehensive reports of the state of American public opinion or take an active part in the matters here in connection with the recent Japanese-Chinese negotiations. So far as the Washington government is concerned, however, Kai Fu Shih's presence here has been continually acceptable.

The sending of Dr. Koo, who spent eight years at Columbia university, receiving a master of arts degree and a doctorate of philosophy, is taken to indicate a desire on the part of President Yuan Shi Kai not only to have in the United States a personal representative who is conversant with American customs and diplomacy, but to be prepared in the event the European powers ultimately accept American mediation in the war, to have the interests of China here in the hands of one thoroughly familiar with China's aims and aspirations. Dr. Koo is understood also to be sympathetic with the proposed change of China from a republic to a parliamentary monarchy. He took an active part in the recent Japanese-Chinese negotiations in Peking. As under-secretary of the Chinese federal office he was one of the commission that conducted the peace talks with the Japanese minister and is credited with having written much of China's reply to the Japanese ultimatum.

The prospective minister to the United States is under 40 years of age and speaks English perfectly. He made a brilliant record in Columbia university, being elected to the Phi Beta Kappa Society for scholarship.

TRADE NEGOTIATIONS. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Conferences between counsel for the American meat packers and state department officials on the return of the meat trade to Great Britain to European neutral countries ended temporarily today. Alfred H. Urion, general counsel for the packers, said they would be resumed probably early next week when Consul General Skinner is expected to arrive from London to report on the foreign trade situation. The department so far has reached no decision on the packers' request for special representations on their behalf to the British government.

BALLOT, SON OF VOTER, GREAT RACE HORSE, BRINGS $15,600

Hessian Is Sold for $3,500; Horses at Elmendorf Farm Are Being Disposed of at Auction

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 28.—Ballot son of Voter, and reputed one of the greatest thoroughbred race horses of modern times, today brought $15,600 at the sale of stallions, brood mares and yearlings belonging to the estate of the late James B. Hargis, and quartered at the Elmendorf farm. Ballot, which won more than $150,000 for the late James B. Hargis, was purchased by Major Thomas H. McDowell of the Ashland stud of this city.

Second in importance at the sale today was the disposal of Hessian, another stallion with an enviable record as a sire. He was purchased by A. C. Leonard of this city for $3,500, while Imp Sam, the other stallion to be sold at this sale, brought $2,000 and was bid in by George J. Long, of Louisville, N. Y., turfman.

Of the mares, Rusti Rose was purchased by J. E. Madden of New York and Lexington for $2,100. Imp Colonial, a winner of the English turf a number of years ago, but lately used in the stud of the Hargis estate, brought $2,500. She was purchased by W. Q. Farmer of Nashville, Tenn. A bay colt by Imp Sam was bought by A. C. Leonard of New York for $2,200. The sale was held in the paddock at Elmendorf and was attended by almost every thoroughbred breeder and owner of consequence in the west as well as by a number of prominent eastern horsemen.

The Great Fright

By Walt Gregg

TO begin with Fleming was a successful merchant and had made a modest fortune. So he decided to retire.

His shop was turned over to a couple of his lieutenants—they paid and owed a fine round sum for the good will. G. F. Fleming & Co.—the style and title under which he had won success—was still retained.

The two lieutenants have done famously; so well, indeed, that they are now known to Fleming's name being there instead of their own, for trade is one thing and private life another.

The true George Fleming had taken himself off, had long ago been settled with and paid in full. He might have left his money with the firm; he decided, however, to put it into something safer.

I am uncertain as to the exact nature of these investments. All I know about them is that ten years later they crumbled badly, leaving George Fleming in the lurch and past his prime.

"I'll have to start all over again," he said. "I'm not beaten. There's years of work in me," and he tapped his chest.

There was enough of his money left to start afresh, and he had decided that it should be London, and even Oxford street, as in the old days. It occurred to him that he might re-enter his old firm, buy back a share in it, or take some high position.

It was years since he had been in London as a breadwinner. A few days here and there with the wife and girls, stopping at a good hotel and doing a round of shops and theaters—such was his more recent contact with the city.

Today he found himself there as a petitioner, and already at Paddington some of his courage seemed to go, a daze began to thicken his ideas, and he found some relief in the knowledge that he had a little money behind him and flagging sovereigns in his trousers pockets.

A stiff brandy and soda helped him to enter the many-windowed frontage of Messrs. G. F. Fleming & Co. without to great a sense of his oppressive hugeness. To think that all this space and vastness had started from his own modest enterprise in the earlier 90's.

Department after department unfolded itself, new, undreamt of in his time. At last with an effort he collected himself and sought out the counting house and next the private rooms of his successors. If he were to make a proposal he must do it now.

The two partners—they had come to him as apprentices—received him warmly. He must go out to lunch with them; he must give them one hour—two. They seemed to have no idea of his recent losses and he couldn't very well broach the subject without a sacrifice of pride. He let the moment slip, the opportunity.

The figures they dropped so casually startled him. What use was his small capital to such as they, and all his knowledge and experience so long outdated? When they shook hands and separated Fleming had said nothing that touched his own concerns.

In his day, he reflected, the most prosperous shopkeeper would not have been admitted to the palatial club where they had entertained him.

The clerk had warmed him and so had the friendliness. These two young men—well, perhaps they were not so very young, he reflected—these two young men still had a sense of gratitude, a dash of sentimentality about about the old relationship, and no doubt, if he had asked, they might have found some place for him. But a partnership, or even a position of responsibility, that was too rosy a dream. He recognized now that he was past it.

The very fashions of all these women in the streets of London were beyond him; there was nothing like them at home, neither in the village nor in the county town. A woman dressed as they were dressed would have been regarded as a show.

He stopped on the pavement and watched them. Once he had known all about it—the very latest thing and the fashions of the coming season. Today he stood unimpressed or gazed into shop windows. It was beyond him—the clothes they wore, the way they carried them, and stranger still the personality behind the clothes.

The fumes and mental stir of that expensive luncheon lasted until 5 o'clock and Fleming had gradually drifted back to his hotel to discover that he was capable of what his physician called "depression." So far he had always regarded this as a distressful and uncomfortable complaint which seized on women, leaving the sterner sex immune.

He dined alone dejectedly, feeling his race was run. A late hour found him in the crowded streets, still shaken, still bruised, and gathering knowledge of his own futility.

A hansom cab met with in the Strand had given him a momentary thrill. He was not the sole survivor. And again, in the line of vehicles outside an empty theater he had detected a carriage and pair among the shining horde of gasoline-driven cars. But mostly he had wandered—alien and strange—a denizen of the 19th century at large in the 20th.

He recalled a book he had read about the planet Mars. This life, this city, and its people might have belonged up there. In a few brief years they had changed to Martians while he still kept the easier ways of earth. It was a fancy, and unaccustomed flight.

It pursued him all the way to his hotel; and in bed he lay awake, wondering where in this new city of speed—of tubes, of taxis, of motor buses, of overpowering buildings fed by elevators, of unaccustomed light and glare, and gasoline stench and motor horns—wondering where in it all remained a place for him. The hansom, he remembered, had crawled along empty. Just so would he crawl if he came back here.

The train wherewith George Fleming returned, crestfallen and despondent, took him to a west-country town whence he would drive homeward in a fly, or he could walk the short three miles and let the fishmonger bring out his bag. He decided to walk.

It was early in the afternoon, and fresh from London this place had a sweetness, an air of settled peace. From the moment he disembarked at the simple station a little of his courage came back and some of his old power.

In High street he paused, and for the first time since he had known that somnolent thoroughfare he loitered; actually loitered. Jittered—speaking commercially and in respect to the shops—he had always regarded Elmsford as "a one-eyed place;" it was his own term for it. "A one-eyed place" was Elmsford; he had said so frequently, and Elmsford had taken it without complaint.

The county town made no pretence—had never aped the metropolis. It filled up on market days; it served the staid needs of the surrounding gentry; it was crowded again on Friday and Saturday nights when the laboring folk drew their wages. George Fleming looked at it and found himself once more within the 19th century.

He loitered, and the women who passed gazed at his well-known figure. A few of them bowed respectfully. Here they stood in awe of him; here they dressed like human beings and he could understand them—he could master them. It seemed familiar ground. A vacant shop front caught his eye, quite close to Martin's, the leading drapers. He looked in at Martin's. Yes, he could do as well as that, and better; far better. More glass, a more varied display; the fellow had no taste, no sense of contrast, or balance; he crowded things.

George Fleming stood there as a critic, a pass master. He could hold his own with Martin's; he could smash them if it came to it. He knew his business. There was the vacant shop close by.

George Fleming swelled with power again; his deep dejection had passed off, leaving him young, fertile and full of the methods that had won him his Oxford street success.

Andrew Martin came out of the shop and greeted the illustrious master. The two men knew one another; they both sat on the County Council. But far above that distinction was Fleming's past.

In Martin's eyes he was a classic. He was the original proprietor of G. F. Fleming & Co., he was limitless, he was immortal. So might a journeyman painter feel in the presence of Sargent or a small novelist greet the august shape of Chaucer.

"I'm thinking of starting a business here," said Fleming. "I'm going back to it again. Had too much loafing."

"Here in Elmsford?" asked Andrew Martin.

"Elmsford suits me."

"Not as a draper?" For it seemed incredible, and in Andrew Martin's eyes it seemed a threat.

"I've just been having a look round in London. My old firm will back me. I can buy with them, and they'll send me lines they've overstocked. I'm afraid I'll be in a position to cut prices, but business is business."

He was romancing, yet he could see it all so plainly. He might have the use of that great name, and the two partners would help him. He would profit by their immense purchases their direct accounts with agents and manufacturers. He needn't fiddle along with usurious go-between and small-parcel prices.

Poor Andrew Martin saw it, too. Here was the master come out of a prolonged retirement. "You're joking," he forced himself to say; but Fleming, stern and formidable, assured him to the contrary and mentioned that he must be moving.

The following morning he sat at breakfast with his wife and daughters. A single letter had come by the first post.

He read it. The thing was astonishing; it was surprising. And yet . . . Martin's had asked him to reconsider his decision. A partnership might be arranged, they said. They would not be difficult as to terms, and united they could do more than in opposition.

"I've frightened them," he cried, throwing the letter across to Mrs. Fleming. "I've frightened them worse than London frightened me."

Just a Little "Stenog."

By Ethelred Elkins

DETTY Ada Manley entered Miss Catherine Lane's dainty sitting room in a somewhat stormy mood. She fung down an open letter and stamped a rebellious little foot.

"Now here's Aunt Harriet," she said. "Dictating to me what I shall do with every cent of the money old Uncle Ben left me, and I'm 22 and have earned my own living for four years. She says I am earning enough to live on, so I needn't touch Uncle Ben's legacy. She wants me to go to see her Saturday and she will advise me how to invest it. She says she'll wash her hands of me forever if I waste a penny of it. Well, she may. I've never had a really good time in my life, and I'm going to have one soon."

Just as soon as I read the lawyer's letter about the money I knew what I should do. I'm going to have some nice clothes made, stylish and right, and I'm going to Mousset to say three solid weeks and pretend to myself that I was born with a gold spoon in my mouth. I want to know how it feels to spend money, and I want to forget that I'm a little fifteen-dollar-a-week stenographer, and that all the living relative I have is cantankerous Aunt Harriet. But, of course, I can't go alone. You'll go with me, won't you, dear Miss Catherine? Please say you will, else my castles in the air will all fall."

"But why, my dear child, do you choose a place so far away and so expensive? There are pretty, quiet summer resorts much nearer."

"Don't you see, dear Miss Catherine, if I couldn't feel half so glibly as I was liable at any time to be recognized by somebody as one of Bent & Co.'s stenographers? And I don't want a quiet place. No, I must go to Mousset. Now, please, please say you will go with me!"

Miss Catherine did not at once consent; but when she realized what the project meant to Ada she at last yielded.

A month later an impecunious adventurer, stylish of air and clothing, walking along a terrace at Mousset, spoke low to George Arnold, tutor and companion to the invalid heir of a wealthy house:

"Have you seen that Miss Manley who arrived this afternoon with a fine-looking elderly woman? The girl's a corker for looks; hair and eyes as black as your hat, and judging by her clothes and general appearance, she's got money. But I'll find out before I fall in love with her. No impecunious fair one for your little Willie. The girl I marry must have rocks as well as looks."

"So you'd marry a woman for her money?"

"Bet your life I would and the more the better."

The two men happened to meet again in the evening.

"No danger in telling you, Arnold," said the adventurer, "seeing you'd soon to marry a girl for her money. I've found out about Miss Manley. She's the daughter of old Mr. Manley, who got rich in the laundry soap business. She's worth millions if she's worth a cent. Now, I shall proceed to get introduced in proper style, and then with me make love to the scorpions. O, I shall love her all right. Don't you worry. I could love a girl with that amount of money if she were as homely as a hedge fence.

and Miss Manley's a beauty."

The introduction was obtained and the adventurer began to use all his arts to win the supposed heiress. Ada, intoxicated by her new life, with its freedom from daily toil and its gayety, was flattered by the attentions of the debonair young man and soon fancied herself in love with him. His manner toward Miss Lane was perfection itself, and the old lady, usually so astute, believed in him and liked him.

George Arnold remained in the background, merely the tutor of young Richard French, but Ada's eyes often followed him somewhat wistfully as he walked with his charge. She was not conscious of any special attraction toward him. She fully meant to say "yes" to the adventurer when he should ask the all-important question that his manner toward her left no doubt of his intention to ask.

It had not been asked on the evening that he accosted Arnold with unusual excitement of manner. "Say, Arnold," he said. "I'm stung all right. Chap here this afternoon on a flying trip says Mr. Manley's daughter has red hair and she's in Europe now. Says he's dead sure this girl's a stenographer that he's noticed in a big wholesale house back in Alden. Mighty lucky I hadn't got engaged to her."

"Mighty lucky for her," growled Arnold.

"What do you say?"

"I say that you are a low-down reptile, and if you don't make yourself scarce quick I'll throw you over the wall."

The adventurer, more discreet than plucky, walked rapidly away and a moment afterward Arnold went in the opposite direction. Then a burning-eyed Ada arose from a rustic seat near by, concealed by a clump of shrubbery, where she had gone to enjoy the cool evening breeze. She knew now that her erstwhile ardent lover had loved not herself, but the money he thought she possessed, and she realized, too, that her pride and not her heart suffered. The next day the adventurer left Mousset; and Ada never saw him again.

It was her last evening. Again she sat on the rustic seat, but this time not alone.

"Sweetheart," said George Arnold, "it was a glad moment for me when I heard that you were not the daughter of a multi-millionaire, but just a dear little stenographer whom I might hope to win for my wife."

"When did you begin to love me, George?"

"The first time I set eyes on you, blessed extravagant little girl."

What He Thought

By Albert Haney

THROUGH the open windows of the little white house came the sounds of singing and occasionally one would catch a glimpse of the songstress as she moved back and forth from table to stove. If one looked long enough one could discover that she was as good to look upon as was her voice to listen to. Borne upon the August morning breeze there was wafted the appetizing odor of cooking. Mollie Wade was frying doughnuts.

A huge colander of nut-brown beauties stood at the back of the stove.

Every once in a while Mollie Wade skillfully rescued one from the hot fat with the aid of a long skewer and added it to the pile.

Perhaps it was the voice of the girl as she sang. Perhaps it was the fragrant smell of the doughnuts. It might have been the fault of both. At any rate a weary knight of the road, first cousin to John Barleycorn, roused from his morning slumber, looked longingly toward the little white house.

A few minutes later Mollie was interrupted in her work and in her song by a knock at the side door, and, opening it, found herself face to face with a tramp whose apologetic attitude and voice could not belie his true character.

Mollie hastily agreed to his mumbled demand for good; glad to shut the door upon his visage.

Alone in the house she fully realized that she was entirely at his mercy. What could she give him to get rid of him at once? Her eyes fell upon the pile of doughnuts and with trembling fingers she hastily filled a big with the brown beauties.

Meanwhile fate was having its own particular frolic with Mollie Wade. While she was busily filling the bag with doughnuts the arrival of a young man on the scene was the cause of the tramp's abrupt departure. Just as the young man reached out his hand to grasp the brass knocker Mollie Wade cautiously opened the door far enough to admit the passage of the bag, shoved it into the outstretched hand and with assumed bravery ordered the receiver to be off.

The young man stared in amazement from the bag in his hand to the door which had just banged shut in his face. There was still a puzzled expression on his face as he passed down the steps and out upon the road. So preoccupied was he in wondering why the pretty vision in pink had ordered him from the door that it was not until he reached his own house that he discovered that he was still holding the paper bag that had been thrust into his hand.

Curiosity prompted him to open it. A delicious fragrance assailed his nostrils and the sight of the contents rewarded his eyes and tempted his palate. He ate one and immediately reached in the bag for another. A fourth followed the third and still he was not satisfied. When the bottom of the bag was finally reached still another surprise awaited him. There, in the midst of a few remaining crumbs, reposed a dainty gold brooch.

The young man had no doubts as to who was its owner, and despite his reception of the morning, felt a keen sense of pleasure in the knowledge that his discovery necessitated another visit to the little white house.

The following morning Mollie Wade was again interrupted in her tasks by a knock at the door. Vision of the tramp returning came to her. This time, however, she had not so much cause for fear. Aunt Letty was at home. She was nevertheless agreeably surprised when the open door revealed a good-looking young man in place of the tramp she half expected to see.

The new minister introduced himself and taking the gold brooch from his pocket handed it to Mollie Wade. "This, I believe, is your property," he said with a faint smile.

Mollie Wade gazed at the brooch in dumb amazement. "My pin," she cried. "I never expected to see it again. I lost it yesterday and after searching the house from top to bottom felt certain that it had dropped into the bag of doughnuts I gave a tramp. Where on earth did you find it?"

The smile on the minister's face deepened. "In the bag of doughnuts you gave me yesterday," he said.

Mollie Wade gasped. "Gave you? How-when-where? I gave those doughnuts to a tramp," she exclaimed weakly.

The new minister's smile was compelling. "No," he said, "that was what you meant to do, but the fellow ran off when he spied me coming and it was in my hands you put the bag."

"And upon you I slammed the door. What must you think of me?" murmured Mollie in sorrow.

It was not until a few months later that she dared tell her all he thought of her; but when he did Mollie Wade blushing agreed to cook doughnuts for him for the rest of their lives.

Better Days Ahead

By Elsie Endicott

MARTHA VALE crowded another piece of wood into the old stove, and stooping down, anxiously caressed the pile on the top and bottom shelves to change places. When the oven door was once more closed upon them she rose, and with a corner of her worn and faded apron wiped the perspiration from her faded cheek.

Just as she had settled herself for a breathing spell in the old wooden rocker that wouldn't rock—couldn't rock ever since the night that Jason had nailed a board under its rockers, because rocking annoyed him—the kitchen door opened and her sister-in-law entered.

"Mercy, Martha, but it's hot in here. That stove of yours is worse than a furnace. When you going to get one of those wireless ones? If you want me I'll meet you tomorrow and help you select one."

Martha slowly raised her downcast eyes to the other's inquiring gaze. "I wouldn't be so used to meet me, Ellen, I'm not going to get one of those stoves this summer after all. Jason says that he needs all the money he can get to help pay for that strip of meadowland he is going to buy from Luke Hardy."

"Well, I'd like to know. And he after telling Will only the other day that he expected to make enough out of this year's crops to more than pay for that land and over. And everyone knows that there isn't a farm within miles that is paying as well as his'n or a farmer that has as good tools to work with. They know, too, that there isn't a woman within the same distance that has as little to do with as you have and it's all your own fault, Martha Vale."

"If you hadn't always given in to Jason things would never have been so bad. Look at that chair there. Do you suppose that any other woman would have sat quietly by and let her husband nail it up because he didn't like to see it rocked? What about the things that Jason does that you don't like?"

"Oh, I know what you're going to say. And if it's true it's just because you've sort of forced yourself into liking everything he does. It's the easiest way for you, Martha. What you need is a little more spirit."

"Do you suppose that because Jason is my own brother that I can't see his faults? It isn't that he means to be hard, either. It's just a habit that has sprouted and grown considerable under your meekness. Martha Vale, if you want to get any happiness in this life with Jason, you've got to handle him differently."

For some time after her sister-in-law had left Martha Vale sat staring out upon the most prosperous farm in the whole country. From there her gaze slowly traveled back to the poorly furnished kitchen, to the dingy old table-cloth with its numerous cracks and stains, the unpainted walls and back to the latest bone of contention between her and her husband—the old, cracked and badly warped stove that had belonged to his mother.

Ellen's words kept resounding in her ears, and as she pondered on them she became so excited that she even attempted to rock the chair she was still sitting in, and didn't realize what she was doing until a series of uncomfortable jolts recalled her to the situation.

Brushing back the damp clinging locks of hair she rose listlessly with a half-vague idea to get the kitchen cool and tidy before Jason returned. And then, horn of her long-smouldering sense of injustice which had been kindled into life by her sister-in-law's words, Martha Vale rebelled.

A few hours later when Jason returned home he was met at the very door by a heat that, once inside the little kitchen, became unbearable. "What, Martha, but it's hot in here. What you been doing?"

"Working," was Martha's nonchalant reply as she moved vigorously back and forth in the rocking-chair that now could rock while Jason stared in open-mouthed amazement at his once meek wife now grown defiant.

The days which followed were but a repetition of each other, during which meal hours became a source of torture to Jason, and during which time—despite an unusual amount of labor—it was not until the end of a week of such treatment that Jason evinced any signs of weakening. One evening, returning after an unusually hard day in the hot sun to a still hotter kitchen, he surprised his wife by suddenly inquiring the price of the stove she so much desired.

"Better get Ellen to go with you tomorrow to buy one, then," he said finally, "and get whatever else you need to make this kitchen cool and comfortable. I'm tired to death of all this needless heat and needless wood chopping."

Martha smiled to herself as she went about her work. Her strategy had borne fruit and she knew that there were better days ahead.

Changed his Mind.

"Do you think the motor-car has come to stay?" asked one man of his neighbor.

"Well," replied the other, "there was one out in front of my house today which I thought had; but they got a horse after a while towed it home."

TULARE ORANGES TO BE KEPT TO HIGH SUGAR STANDARD

Fruit to Be Certified and Advertised as Last Year

WILL KEEP HERE

If Northern Fruit Takes Advantage of Ruling by Shipping Sour Fruit

LINDSAY, Oct. 28.—Regardless of any action on the part of the Department of Agriculture to set aside the eight-to-one maturity standard, enforced last year, the growers of Tulare county will voluntarily observe the standard. It is known definitely that the California Fruit Growers Exchange and the National Orange Distributors, two of the largest shippers of this district, will adhere strictly to the standard and advertise all fruit as shipped under the 8 to 1 test.

Growers here are very much incensed over the information from Washington regarding the action of the Secretary of Agriculture, but remain solidly for voluntary observation of the law. The Tulare County Protective Association, formed for the purpose of enforcing the standard, has signed up practically all the shipping concerns in the Porterville district, to the effect that they will ship no fruit that does not come up to the test. Practically all the packers in the Lindsay, Exeter and Lemoore sections will also sign the agreement. Last year 95 per cent of all the houses in Tulare county certified their fruit through this association.

A meeting of exchange growers was held here this afternoon. Earl G. Dressel, assistant general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange of Los Angeles; R. J. Grassly, advertising manager of the Exchange, and W. T. Kester, general manager of the Lord & Thomas Advertising Agency of Chicago, were present at the meeting. Grassly and Kester spoke on advertising.

Dressel spoke on the orange standard. He said that the government had never set a standard but merely suggested it and the growers made it definite. He stated that perhaps the Department of Justice had ruled that the Bureau of Chemistry cannot seize oranges that are not up to the 8 to 1 standard and advertise it. "The people want good fruit," said Dressel. He furthermore remarked that the general condition of the country was better than last year and that good prices were evident.

Must Not Color Fruit
PORTERVILLE, Oct. 28.—According to local shippers of oranges, who have received advice from authoritative sources, the protest of Congressman Curry against recent ruling of the bureau of chemistry regarding shipments of early oranges has not had the effect of changing any of the regulations heretofore published.

The government officials, it is stated are prepared to seize any oranges which have received artificial aids to improved appearance, provided such oranges do not show a percentage of eight parts of sugar to one part of acid.

It is stated here that these artificial aids will extend to causing for closing vents on cars, thus causing a certain rise in temperature with a resultant acceleration of the coloring process. However, if oranges are shipped as picked from the trees, the sugar content will not figure in the regulations. A green orange may be sold as such.

It is not believed here that these regulations will affect the early shipping. Last year the oranges shipped from Tulare county were accompanied by maturity certificates, with the result that brokers all through the east are informing their connections in this state that they will take no chances on unripe fruit. This means that fruit from northern counties will find a cold welcome in the market. Tests which have been made to date of little county fruit show less than a percentage of six to one, markedly under the suggested government standard. Steps are being taken to inform the trade everywhere of this fact. The dispatches from Washington will have no effect on the local markets and fruit from this district will not be handled until it shows the required sugar content.

REPORTS ON TYPHOON.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Governor General Harrison of the Philippines cabled the Insular Bureau today that the typhoon which passed over the provinces of Albay, Samar, Cebu, Negros, and Iloilo, in southern Luzon, the principal hemp producing district of the islands, on October 22 and 24, caused serious damage to the hemp crop and some loss of life. Full details as to the loss of life and property were lacking, he said.

STEAMER AGROUND.
LIMA, Peru, Oct. 28.—The Peruvian steamer Pachita, which was in collision early in the week with the steamer Retriever, is now aground in the bay of Lema, and it is believed she will be a total wreck. The Pachita is insured for $450,000. The Retriever belongs to the West Coast Cable Company.

EXPLORES HOME OF BRAZILIAN INDIANS

Scientist Studies Customs of Mundurucus Tribe in South America

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—An account of the discovery of the original habitat of the Mundurucus Indians, a little-known tribe of savages, was received here today from Dr. William C. Parake, leader of the University of Pennsylvania Museum's Amazon expedition. Dr. Parake wrote that he had spent several months in Brazilian wilds before being visited by white men and that he made important geographical, zoological and ethnological discoveries. After going up the Cururu river for some distance, the expedition branched off to the east on foot into what is called on the maps "Campa Geral," but of which nothing is known. Dr. Parake traversed this country for two hundred kilometers and it was here that he located the Mundurucus. He spent a long time among these Indians, studying their language, their manners and customs, and making a vocabulary, as a result of which he expects to settle absolutely the question of the relations of this tribe to the Tupi. As for the country itself, Dr. Parake reported that it was nothing but "a worthless, undeveloped, treeless, rough and unfit for grazing purposes." The expedition, which has been in the Amazon country for nearly three years, left almost immediately for further work of exploration.

CATTLE PRIZES AT P. P. I. EXPOSITION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—California exhibitors won a total of $9,470 in prizes at the Panama-Pacific Exposition cattle show, it was announced today. Oregon breeders annexed $9,146; Washington cattlemen, $8,659; and Colorado stock raisers, $1,130.

Walter H. Dupe of Santa was the largest California winner, taking $1,455 with his Guernseys. The University of California was awarded prizes totaling $1,430.

ROME, Oct. 28, via Paris, 3:30 p. m.—Pope Benedict expressed gratification today at the work of Cardinal Gibbons in furtherance of the papal plans for preparing public opinion to exercise a powerful influence in favor of peace.

AVIATOR FAILS TO REACH HATTERAS

Forced to Alight in Maryland on Way From Albany, N. Y.

CORRAN CITY, Md., Oct. 28.—David H. Kendrick, who left Albany, N. Y., at 8:20 this morning in a hydro-aeroplane in an attempt to fly to Cape Hatteras, N. C., lost his way in a dense fog after passing Stearns Park, N. J., and when overtaken by darkness was obliged to land in Assawoman bay, near here. The trip to Hatteras will be abandoned and Kendrick with his machine will leave tomorrow for New York.

Kendrick followed the Hudson river from Albany to New York City, and then flew down the New Jersey coast. Several stops were made during the day for gasoline and to adjust machinery, the last one being in the Atlantic ocean, fifteen miles southwest of Cape Hatteras. Nightfall, a fishing smack off-shore, the aviator alighted nearby and replenished his supply of fuel from the fishermen. Other stops were made at Poughkeepsie, Boons Ferry and Atlantic City.

Kendrick made the flight in competition for the Curtiss marine flying trophy and a cash prize. He was accompanied by Frank Mills.

Kendrick, who represented the Aero Club of America, landed here at 5:30, covering approximately 150 miles in the nine hours. The competition is open until October 31, when the aviator having the greatest number of miles to his credit in a ten-hour flight will be awarded the trophy and a cash prize of $1,000. Up to date the record is held by David L. McCulloch of Newport, Pa., who covered 180 miles in seven hours and 45 minutes. McCulloch also represented the Aero Club of America.

GIRL IS FOUND DEAD ON TRACK

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—The headless body of Miss Sophia McCallin, daughter of the late William C. McCallin, former mayor of Pittsburgh, was found here last night on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Roup, a passenger station within the city limits. Identification was established by a diamond pin bearing her name. The circumstances leading to her death are unknown.
